See the Spirit, Hear the Pride

El Recuerdo 1987

Tamar,

Well, the year is finally over!
 Thanks so much for being such a good friend throughout all the arguments we have had!
 Believe me, Geometry would have sucked without your smart ass remarks to him. I wish you were in Bauer's class next year because I need someone to have a lower grade than me (Just kidding)
 I hope we have a math teacher that does not have a huge nose and shit for brains! I hope you have a cool summer. Let's surf together this summer!
 Well I forget what else I'm supposed to say so I guess
 this is it.

Love

Tamar,

Hey Mon, What be happenin' I want to go back to Barbados mon! It was a cool year and I'm glad I met you on the cruise. Next year, maybe, my grandma and yours will do the same thing for easter vacation, and take us (of course). We could kill everyone that reminded us of CAMPBELL (Garry) HALL
 A NICE SUMMER AND GO TO ABBOT

TAMAR-
 MY, HASN'T IT BEEN A GREAT YEAR! THIS SUMMER SHOULD TURN OUT TO BE A LOT OF FUN.
 I AM SO GLAD SWIM
 PRACTICE IS OVER!
 IT WAS FUN THOUGH,
 WASH IT! YOU ARE A REALLY GREAT PERSON
 I WISH YOU A LOT OF LUCK IN THE COMING

Tamar,

It's been a great year
 having you in my
 Spanish and Geometry
 class. I know I teased you a lot but I had
 fun. I hope you have a great summer, part all you can but take care of yourself

your
 A/H

Tamar,

Hi! I'm very glad we met you this year. You are very very sweet and fun 2 B with. I hope in the next 2 years we can become really good friends. See ya next year! football!!

Love,

KIT

Tamar, HEY, it was great knowing you and we better have some classes next year
Have fun and take care,

Love

I just got through talking to your Bud and mini - Judd. Oh yeah - what a guy. Sum was just so much fun
this year - kinda
reminds me of soccer
with Mark? Now that was a true
experience! I hope you have a great summer (if that's possible with out
daily visits from Judd)

Love,

Handy Tamar -

was what a year what a year.

You looked so outgoing and unusually happy when I first spotted you across our beloved English room that I never imagined meeting you on wonderful diversity women's champion pizza winner.
Yes this stupid conversation is typical of our usual talk. Well I am really glad we are friends. I think no really I am. I can't wait till next year when I can race against you since your too good this year. Don't let Coach Hubbert overfeed your cat and good luck

with your mid. Reed

Hey Tamar -
 Howz it goin' ?
 Well it looks like the end of the year is here and Summer
 has begun! clt.
 was cool having
 you in the same chemistry! Have a cool summer and
 see you in the fall!
 Luv-

Jeff Langston

Hey Tamar (what a catchy statement)
 You have been one of the sunniest
 people to hang out with.
 I can't wait till next year to do the same!
 Break would it have been such a delightful time period
 if I hadn't had you be there w/
 me through it

TAMAR, WET, (hold it up to a mirror) all, call us
 Real fun time in hslwet this summer!
 Geometry CLASS. Ride that wheel to some-bike. Tight shorts. Algebra II thing. Here's next year. No Ridgeway. to "FRESH" Jew Ridgeway. HA. It's been really real. But out of all the classes this was most Jewish.
 That's Deep

FRIENDS. Making friends is a big part of high school. These close friends Keith Easler, Zack Barkett, Mike Huish and David Riley are a crowd in themselves at Grossmont.

YA HOO!! The always spirited Lori Hunt shows her enthusiasm as she goes from room to room judging for most spirited class on the Grossmont campus.

1, 2, 3, GO! Bringing home the Musket this year from Helix High School was one of the greatest things to happen. Here the varsity cheerleaders show the pride of Grossmont, holding their colorful run-through banner.

CATCH OUR SPIRIT! Blue and Gold are our colors representing spirit and pride. Deca class participating in the class spirit competition express their excitement about being a Foothiller.

Widely spread throughout the school are the Sights and Sounds of Grossmont. Being a part of the spirit and pride of the Foothillers is a special feeling all of us share. At the football games we can almost feel the heads and bodies crash together as our fighting Foothillers tackle our opponents ... All of us stand for the pledge of allegiance and showing our pride ... Anticipating, watching, just waiting for her to serve that volleyball ... Heads pounding, eyes bulging, minds scrambling, it's exam time ... All of this done to learn and become intelligent, educated adults. Only we together share these special feelings of spirit and pride. We, the students, together, learning, living, and being a part of Grossmont High School.

Amar,
You've been a great friend all year; we've had so much fun. I'm really pissed that we don't have any classes next year, but I'm sure I'll see you around school. Have a great summer, and I hope to see you. Give me a call.

Love,

See the Spirit

The first day, students slowly approached Grossmont's enormous campus with many questions, thoughts, dreams, and hopes. A.S.B. members and faculty worked together planning various functions in order to welcome them. The traditional "Little-Sister Picnic," joined together this year with the "Little Brother Picnic." This set the pace of involvement.

Chanting cheers such as "We've Got It" and watching the funny skits and dances let everyone have some fun at the Pep Assemblies.

G.H.S.'s sports had us on the edge of our seats. We watched the scoreboards light up ... VICTORY! And the glorious pride yelled by fans and team members ran chills up all of our spines. We all belong. We all See the Spirit and Hear the Pride.

High fives and hugs were abundant this season for playoff hungry footballers.

Closeness and the desire for involvement saw Wendy Hodgetts and Don Steele working on Club Day sign ups.

On a woman hunt, Brad Roppe stalks wary Lisa Howe through the Fashion Show.

Hama,
 Hey you Volleytennis
 stud. I love the way you
 smash the ball
 in the corners.
 Very sneaky!
 It has been great to have you in English.
 Have a Terrific
 summer!
 See Ya

Hear the Pride

Obvious enjoyment shows on the faces of students taking in a Friday night football game. The Hillers fielded their best team in many years and attendance was way up.

Rusty Beatty and Liz Lee portray the very romantic couple from "Gone With The Wind" as part of the Fall Fashion show. Students flocked to the Old Gym to view the styles.

Welcoming the Class of 1990, new Grossmont principal Robert Brady shares his impressions on the spirit of Grossmont High. Brady brought many new ideas with him to GHS.

Activities

With a western theme, Mark Capelletti appears to represent Grossmont's own Marlboro man at the fashion show.

Hundreds of people rush into the old gym and seat themselves. A hush falls on the crowd as the excited students wait in anticipation for the pep assembly to begin. Students crowd the blue stage at lunch trying to get a better view of the activities. The buzz of excitement spreads through the crowd at a football game. Everyone's got the Hiller Spirit!

During this past year, Grossmont spirit was shown and pride felt by students and teachers alike many times during the numerous events that were scheduled. Homecoming and Halloween brought dress-up days. Spirit and pride were increased through competition during the Blue and Gold room decorating contest. Red Ribbon Week involved all in a common effort to "Say No to Drugs." Pep assemblies and football games energized everyone's spirit.

These are just a few of the activities that made it easy for Grossmont students to capture the spirit throughout the year. The excitement could not be avoided, whether one was a spectator or directly involved. Activities which took place this year made memories to last a lifetime.

Hear Our Pride. Tracy Weber ignites Hiller spirit and pride as her voice rings out through the crowd at a Friday night football game.

Eat it! Noel Gillespie encourages messy faced pie eaters at the lunch time pie eating contest. Lunchtime activities become highlights for a typical school day.

Blue and Gold Spirit. All dressed up in cheer uniforms, Peter Vinieris and Lorie Ruskin show spirit for room decorating.

Let's Dance! The first dance of the year turned out to be a big success. Anna Riley, Heather Ryan, and Jill Woicka dance up a storm at the welcome back dance.

Fired up. Full of vitality, mascot, Greg Holcomb, jumps high with enthusiasm for our fighting Foothillers at the Helix football game. Grossmont finally got the musket back at this exciting game.

Daisy Chain escorts '86 graduates into future

The glaring sun shone down upon sharply creased white tuxes and yellow taffeta dresses, tight shoes pinched toes, and the dirt from the green ivy left creases inside the palms of hands.

A PRIVILEGE? Well for 20 girls, 20 boys, and 10 ushers, it certainly was.

The Daisy Chain led the class of '86 into the Greek Bowl at San Diego State, and acted as a ceremonial guard.

Last May, candidates were nominated by faculty members on the basis of school service, grades, and activities. A total of 50 students were then chosen.

Daisy Chain members and ushers spent the last day of school intertwining daisies throughout the ivy chain; this proved worthwhile as the Chain continued the tradition that has existed here at Grossmont since the early 30's.

As the '86 graduates begin to file into the Greek Bowl, Daisy Chain members act as an honorary guard.

Divided into two groups, the east and the west, Daisy Chain members entered from separate sides and joined in the middle to form a whole chain. The east side members were: J. Adams, R. Burwell, D. Carlson, K. Corcoran, K. Crucitt, N. Gillespie, M. Harris, E. Holmgren, M. Jacobs, M. Paul, K. Rowbotham, R. Shamoun, S. Sodano, D. Stark, A. Temple, J. Thornton, E. Tyrell, J. Weaver, A. Woods, and K. Zavala.

Lorie Ruskin and Kevin Corcoran seek advice on how to complete the chain from Counselor Ashman.

While many people were anxious to be Daisy Chain members, only the elite few were selected. The members who were on the west side were: R. Anthony, S. Busby, M. Clavell, M. Donnelly, M. Dotson, M. Fountain, S. Haight, S. Kline, J. Kong, K. Laughlin, V. Le, C. Manderson, T. Pearsley, R. Richard, L. Ruskin, H. Ryan, M. Savary, J. Smith, D. Strauss, and Dawn Voss.

Sorting through ivy, Jenny Kong and Dawn Voss begin to wrap long strands of green leaves around a rope which will, when finished, become the traditional chain.

Before threading the daisies throughout the ivy, Jennifer Smith admires the chain stretched out upon the floor.

Usher Erin Nelson hands out programs that outline the ceremony to come. The other ushers were: B. Bernhard, G. Fontana, K. Hodge, K. Hopkins, L. Lee, D. Sperber, K. Wangler, T. Washington, and A. Wright.

ASB Leadership:

Staffed with two returning officers and three returning class members, the new ASB leadership class dove into the school year with splashes of new ideas and goals for the school year. Leadership and responsibility were elements instilled into both the officers and class members beginning over the summer when the class met to discuss activities ranging from Hello Week to commencement ceremonies for graduation. The summer meetings served a three-fold purpose: to work around the needs of both the student body and faculty, to enhance new activities and assemblies so they were unique, and to create enthusiasm and school spirit as never before. With all the planning and effort put out by the ASB into the school and various activities, they have definitely made "A Splash of Leadership" this year.

The Working Class

Hula, Hola, Hellos spark spirit for new year

*Hello Week jolted Hiller spirit,
No other school came near it.
United we stood, side by side,
As the competitions came alive.
Graffiti contests on Hola Day,
How/Howdy Day with its relay.
Ahoy Day with its ice block pull,
Aloha Day with action full.
Hiller spirit and Hiller pride,
In our hearts will always reside.
Hello Week was full of fun,
Making first week a memorable one.*

Swinging to the splashy sounds of Hawaii, Chris Yale gets into the spirit of Aloha Day.

Chips Ahoy and whistlers two. Lance Richardson and James Weber rush to eat plate of cookies and whistle to capture contest. Neck and neck, Lance Richardson and James Weber put forth best effort in Ahoy Day ice block pull, hoping to come out on top.

"Don't peek." Mike Mengoli keeps winner of the treasure chest drawing from peeking, as she reaches into the chest full of prizes.

GHS spirit climbs to the top with 86-87 V. Cheer

"Hillers, hey we've got it!" For many, the year officially began as the 86-87 V. Cheerleaders' school pride and spirit rang out in a wave of cheers at Grossmont's first pep assembly. The 86-87 year brought the revival of a male addition to the squad. Grossmont's mascot, Greg Holcomb, known as Gus, brought an added spectrum of enthusiasm to the crowds. The entire squad learned to work together as a team, choreographing new cheers, dance routines, and stunts to exceed Grossmont's high standards.

Their daily summer practices and many school year activities paid off generously as their central goal was achieved. The spirit of Grossmont High School climbed its way to the top.

#1 "After all is said and done, teamwork is what made us number one"
— Tina Megna — Captain

W-I-N are the words the cheerleaders chant in their efforts to support the water polo team.

Performance & skill Throughout the year the squad inspired the teams with their energetic pep-assembly performances.

"G-H-S!" Performing stunts after a great play helped to spark foothiller spirit throughout the crowd.

Go big blue! Leading the crowd in a roaring cheer, mascot Gus, Greg Holcomb, encourages school pride and spirit.

Balance Building pyramids takes a great deal of strength and balance. Performing them takes courage.

Unity United as always, the squad cheerfully makes their way to the opponent's side to introduce themselves with a hello-cheer.

We've got spirit, yes we do! Co-Captain, Vanessa Canrinus, leads the crowd in a traditional cheer.

V. Cheer Lana Bianchi, Annette De Lora, Laura Roberts, Tracy Weber, Lorie Ruskin, Greg Holcomb, Captain — Tina Megna, Amy Bartlett, Julie Goble, Teri Weber, Co-Captain — Vanessa Canrinus

Junior V. Cheer keeps the intense spirit alive!

A lot of time, hard work and determination is what led the Junior Varsity cheerleaders to a successful year. Along with attending cheer camp at UCSD practices began over summer and continued on through the school year. They not only performed at sporting events, but at orientation, assemblies, the Mother Goose Parade, Charger pre-game activities and much more.

Students flock to Expo Day; join clubs for fun!

One after the other, students flocked to the upper quad at lunch to sign up for their favorite clubs. Along with the traditional organizations like Girls' League, also available were new ones such as the Cycling Club. This not only gave students an opportunity to get involved, but activity Expo '86 turned out to be an overall success.

It's Time! Kristina Franzen and Kelly Erickson included Mat Maids in their choice for clubs.

What a Guy; Jost Deerberg from West Germany was an exchange student here at Grossmont.

Smile! Dave Entriken takes out a minute from club day to flash his gorgeous grin.

Well . . . Laura Roberts eagerly explains the details to hopeful future Jr. Judiciary members.

Busy, Busy, Busy! At lunch the upper quad was swamped with determined students waiting to sign up for their favorite club.

Homecoming week brings out spirit

Homecoming week brought us a new sense of spirit. Numerous people crowded around the blue stage at lunch to watch the court take part in the week's activities. This annual event generated much enthusiasm throughout Grossmont. The week was cut short by a day off to celebrate Veteran's Day, therefore the festivities kicked off Tuesday. The first event was the heart balloon relay race. The contestants were paired in twos and they had to blow up the balloon, put it between their chests, run to a certain point and back, and then pop it. Mike Clavell and Lorie Ruskin won it by a wide margin. Wednesday also brought more excitement; the one and only licorice eating contest between the court. They again were split into pairs of twos. Mark Cappelletti and Tina Megna showed what they were made of by winning it in record time! The next event came on Thursday, and it was the famous jello slurping contest. Each member of the court was given a plate of jello, and then was instructed to eat it as fast as possible. This was truly a fierce competition as each one tried to gulp down the jello. As the contest went on many of the nominees stopped to watch the winners finish licking their plates. The winners were Kevin Corcoran and Lorie Ruskin, as they proved that they truly were champion jello slurpers! Friday was the day everyone had been waiting for as homecoming '86 had finally arrived. Lunch time brought about the annual and always delightful pie in the face. An honor saved for the male and female who received the most amount of money in their envelope during the week. Mike Mengoli and Tina Megna earned the honors. . . . To end the week there was the fair. It was very well done and enjoyable. This year's homecoming was very exciting and fun for all who participated!

Grossmont's one and only Greg Holcomb stands ready to receive another sponge in the face. The sponge toss was the math club's booth.

The Wizard of Oz! Dan Stark, Suzy Wright, Jean Stollenwork, and Marla Matavosky show their spirit by dressing up on Homecoming!

Tie that balloon! Mike Mengoli scrambles to try and get his balloon tied in one of the week's events.

The spirit club!!!! Hundreds of students and faculty crowd around to receive free yogurt courtesy of Penguin's Frozen Yogurt Place.

Hollywood brings excitement to . . . Grossmont

The ten standouts for the Homecoming Court were chosen by their peers for their work and dedication that they put into GHS. It was a way of recognizing them and showing them that we appreciated their service to the school. Each club on campus was able to nominate one boy and one girl to represent their club. The Seniors then voted on the final five to become the Court members, and finally the entire school voted for King and Queen. The Queen was announced at the football game, while the King was revealed at the dance.

FIREWORKS ... OOH!

Hollywood comes to life at GHS

FIREWORKS ... AAAH!

Up up and away in their beautiful balloon fly Heather Ryan and brother Jason.

Royalty is in the spotlight.

"AND THE WINNER IS . . . " Mr. Plum announced, as the five queen nominees stood shivering in the cold night air, clutching their escorts, ". . . HEATHER RYAN!"

This enchantment started at half time when a brightly colored hot air balloon floated across the field with last year's couple. After the crown was placed on Queen Heather's head, she was taken to the balloon by brother Jason, her escort, for a trip to the dance.

Following Grossmont's victory over El Capitan, more than 300 students joined the court at the dance, where Kevin Corcoran was selected King with great enthusiasm. Heather and Kevin were joined by all the nominees for the traditional slow dance and the cutting of the Homecoming cake. Everyone dispersed into the dark night with memories of Homecoming '86 etched in their minds for years.

MARK STILLWELL struggles for yards as the fighting Foothillers push past El Capitan for another victory.

BALLOON ATTENDANTS fight to hold balloon down while Lisa Jordan crowns Heather.

"SMILE PRETTY!" says the photographer while Kevin and Heather pose for yet another picture on this enchanting evening.

"Hear the Spirit, See the Pride . . ."

To really catch the meaning of the El Recuerdo's theme, this year's spirited yearbook staff dressed up representing the various clubs and organizations on campus. What a perfect way to present the "Sights and Sounds of Grossmont."

Yearbook Staff: K. Zavala, D. Lange, G. Polidoro, R. Earley, C. Roth, J. Kim, J. Cargel, D. Danciu, C. Foye, R. Davis, G. Bakunas, R. Marinesi, M. Clavell, V. Canrinus, C. Quijencio, L. Bianchi.

What do we have here? Viewing his negatives, Ken Zavala, staff photographer, searches for the perfect picture.*

Lots of laughs. Even though Annual Class takes a lot of hard work and dedication, the members of the staff do their best to have a good time. Lana Bianchi and Cle Quijencio manage to smile in the early hours.*

The El Recuerdo Staff Presents "Sights and Sounds of Grossmont"

Striving for perfection, the 1986-87 Annual Staff had a tough job ahead of them at the beginning of the year. With only five returners from last year on a staff of thirty one, it was an uphill climb all the way. But pulling together their various talents and using each individual's creativity, this year's annual was sure to be a success.

The hard work began last spring at the end of the school year with training meetings for the new staff. Instead of an editor-in-chief, nine section editors were selected, each presiding over a different section in the book. Many long hours, late nights, and weekends were spent throughout the year by the staff to put the yearbook together. Determination was their motto, and Mr. Brown, advisor of the Publications Class, was always there to give encouragement and offer his expert advice. He kept the staff on pace with his continual reminders — "Remember, folks, deadline's coming up!"

In the end, the hard work paid off. The annual was a success, and the staff felt the satisfaction of a "job well done." The "Sights and Sounds of Grossmont" could be seen and heard by all who enjoyed the book.

Echoes still number one in San Diego

Foothill Echoes was favored to retain its number one ranking among San Diego County high school newspapers for the fifth time in six years.

The Echoes returned to a tabloid format after a year of experimenting with a magazine-type format. Advisor Geoff Anderson felt that the change would save much needed funds for the acclaimed paper.

Much of the success of GHS's Echoes could be attributed for Mr. Anderson, whose desire for a sixth top ranking was evident in the countless hours he spent helping the staff members in order to complete each issue.

Advertisement Managers Debbie Britton, Holly Holt, and Brooke Sigler are the vital staff members that coordinate, sell, and organize all advertisements in our number one paper.

Hard Work. Ambitious members of the Echoes staff, Chris Manderson and Chanel Rayle strive for absolute perfection as they piece together the final drafts of Echoes.

Echoes Enthusiastic Staff Members: (top) Advisor G. Anderson, K. Zavala, G. Lorenzen, J. Weaver, J. Smith, L. Richardson, R. Burwell, M. Mengoli (middle) M. Renneisen, C. Rayle, L. Howe, H. Holt (front) K. Laughlin, D. Carlson, G. Bakunas, S. Shenkel, I. Sylvester (very front) C. Manderson.

Grossmonters keep their campus litter free

Keeping Grossmont High School "litter free" had been an endless campaign for our clean campus competition with other schools. Throughout the school year, judges rated the cleanliness of GHS's grounds, bathrooms, and classrooms in order to compare with other participating schools.

The three "grading periods" in which the judges appeared on campus unannounced, determined whether or not our school, out of all the other ones, would win up to two-hundred dollars.

In December of 1986, Grossmont High was rated a proud first place for keeping its beautiful campus litter free.

With help from considerate students and such a hardworking staff, it was a great success.

Taking time out to help. (upper left) Vanessa Canrinus and Ruthann Earley take time out of their own classes to help clean up.

Making an effort. (left) Even before classes begin, conscientious clean campusers Mike Clavell, Dereka Danciu, and David Strauss help keep GHS litter free.

Energy, service ...

Greg Holcomb displays some of his enthusiasm in keeping the spirit alive at Grossmont.

Ashley Duffield and friends dress up to show the newcomers, just how much pride we have in Spirit Week.

Look out! Girls' Volleyball is honored to represent Grossmont. They had a great season and we were proud to support them.

Homecoming '86 was the best! spirit was in all of us.

real story of Hiller's spirit and pride

Spirit and Pride blazed through the halls of Grossmont. The students and teachers enthusiastically participated in many memorable events. The teachers dressed up on most Fridays in blue and gold. They also led can drives and competed with their home rooms for better fireworks at Homecoming. On the other hand, the students participated at lunch time activities, performed in pep rallies, and supported the Student Awareness Week for the fight to stop drugs. Team spirit was high this year, many sporting events got to be competitors in C.I.F. The Hillers were brought together for many different reasons, but the thing that stands out the best in all is their Spirit and Pride!

Girls' Soccer lines up to show off some of their originality.

Excitement. The king of spirit himself, Greg Holcomb rallies up a crowd of excited Hillers.

Convention '86 soars to new heights

Confetti litters the floor and streamers are scattered about the old gym turned convention hall. An occasional helium filled balloon comes untied from its bouquet and floats to the ceiling. The roar of the delegates, talliers, pages and sergeant-at-arms slowly comes to a hush as the lights dim and the next speaker is announced, delivering his speech. The speech over, the excited roar begins again as cheers fill the air, and the delegates carefully consider and reconsider the best two candidates for each office.

Grossmont holds the record for the oldest convention, dating back thirty-one years. A theme is chosen each year, encasing the candidates' attitude towards the convention as well as the office he is running for.

This year's theme was "Soaring to New Heights". The convention was held during the primary elections, and its purpose was to narrow down the candidates to two per office. The candidates were free to conduct their campaign any way they chose. Buttons, posters, banners and even t-shirts displayed witty campaign slogans. When it came time for their speeches, many candidates recruited friends to help them with creative skits.

Sitting among the delegates, Chris Manderson and Lance Richardson take notes for The Echoes, as the delegates converse among themselves.

HALLOWEEN SPARKS STUDENT'S CREATIVITY

Although Grossmonters were too old to go trick-or-treating they still celebrated in their own special way. Students displayed their creativity in their costumes. There was a variety of costumes which ranged from striking baseball and football players to fictional cartoon characters. There were the usual witches, hippies and 50's style delinquents. Grossmont makes it fun for those that wear costumes with a costume contest that is held at lunch on the blue stage. They each had the chance to show off their costumes while competing for the winning prize — Christmas Dance bids.

Ugh! Cavewomen Tina Megna and Holly Lobelson with baby Kristina Frazen. Excited Grandma Vanessa Canrinus with sister Melissa, Dream Girl Barbie. You're all green Julie Caterina dresses up as her favorite clay character, Gumby. Stick 'Um up Cowgirl, Jill Woidka, pulls the tripper on Injun Anna Riley.

Who? Scott Haight and David Strauss appear as Bob and Doug McKenzie, famous Canadian movie stars and recording artists.*

Holiday Pageant promotes peace and good will

Sixty one years ago the first Holiday Pageant made its debut at Grossmont High School. It soon became one of the most popular shows in San Diego County. People came from out of town to attend and often stood in line for hours to buy tickets.

Over the last few years the attendance has dropped. With this apparent growing lack of interest, along with the tremendous amount of money, time, and effort involved, not to mention class time lost by many performing students, the question was raised — "Is it worth it?" But determined

G.H.S. students circulated petitions to save the Pageant. They were able to raise needed funds by setting out donation boxes and charging admission. Because of their efforts the Pageant was able to go on as usual. The performances were well done and enjoyed by many. Hopefully the Holiday Pageant will continue to promote peace and good will at Grossmont and the community for many years to come.

Singing her heart out. Shelley Smith sets the Holiday spirit with a beautiful hymn.

Let the music play. Dressed up in elaborate medieval costumes, court dancers, Jenny Smith, Cindy Hill, Rochelle Flores, and Jennifer Gable, dance in perfect sync.

Hamming it up. Court jesters, Rene Bahruth and Tammy Munger, entertain the royal court with their bright costumes, funny jokes, and merry dancing.

Heave ho. Terry Smith and Andy Wright roll out Michelle Phillips on the famous yule log.

Away in a manger. Mary, Marla Matavosky, watches over her baby while shepherds and wisemen look on in wonderment during the nativity scene.

A moment of awe. Tribute is being paid to the Madonna, Dawn Voss, in this touching scene of beauty.

Outstanding Off campus talents evident at GHS

GHS students are given the opportunity to display their talents through various campus clubs and junior varsity and varsity sports. The talent of some students is not limited to just that of school related activities, especially those who have taken their abilities to the regional and national levels.

Motorcycle racing is not just a sport for junior Ron Attig, it is a hobby he has enjoyed for four years. The trophies and pictures littering the rooms of Ron's house influenced his decision to race, although his dad discouraged him because of the risk of injury factor, common to motorcycle racing. Ron practices on weekends at the Carlsbad Race Track, and also during school vacations.

Irish dancing is a major part of senior Shannon Knapp's heritage as well as her everyday life. Shannon has been dancing for six years, and has held the title of Miss Ireland of San Diego for three consecutive years. She has participated in the Open Championship Division for two years and has performed in thirteen states, and hopes that these experiences will help her gain the status to compete in the World Championship Irish Dancing Competition, held annually in Ireland.

Fascinated by the sport of Ice Hockey at the age of six, senior Gary Gorrell, has been playing ever since. Gary is currently playing for the San Diego Stars, a team in the Amateur Hockey Association, on which he plays defense and also serves as assistant captain of the team. When the Stars are not playing at home at the U.S.I.U. arena, the team is traveling to other cities, which have included Quebec City, Montreal, Los Angeles, and Pasadena. Gary's future in pursuing a professional hockey career is uncertain, but he will finish the season which includes the State Championships in April.

Maintaining a 4.0 GPA is hard work for sophomore Shelly McTighe, who works equally hard at gymnastics. Shelly has been active in the sport for seven years and began competing regularly five years ago. Her workout place is housed at the S.D.S.U. Aztec Gymnastics Club, where she works out four hours a day during the school week and two-and-a-half hours on Saturdays. Shelly hopes that the competitions will give her the experience, endurance, and grace needed to receive a scholarship to UCLA.

Freshman Melissa Canrinus made her acting debut at the age of six in the original "You belong in the zoo" commercial for the San Diego Zoo, and has been acting and dancing at the San Diego Junior Theater since the age of seven. Her talent has brought her honors at the Miss Junior Teen San Diego, where she was chosen Miss Photogenic and first runner up, and also at the Miss Junior Teen Southern California, where she was chosen third runner up. Melissa prefers acting over modeling and will pursue that field in her future studies.

A positive self image is what senior Mica Alvarez is all about. A model for six years, Mica is now the head instructor at the Sevier and Associates School of Modeling and Self Image. She has also been chosen as an ambassador for the Coca-Cola Fashion Board, where one of her duties is to go to different high school campuses to teach a positive self image through modeling, and she also assists with their fashion shows at the end of the year.

Shortage of acts doesn't hamper Airbands energy

Grossmont's airband competition, not as successful as it has been in past years, was still enjoyed by all involved. An airband is a way to express the kind of music you listen to. For a few minutes you can be transformed into your favorite musician to feel just a tiny bit of the glory your "star" may feel when performing. It takes a lot of nerve to get up on stage in front of 1,500 people and lip sync for three or four minutes. When asked, "Why did you decide to do an airband?" Jeff Lapp replied, "I did it to feel that feeling that's felt when you feel for something!"

"Shout" by Otis Day and the Knights, was a big hit with the audience, placing third in the competition.

Rob Santoro really gets into his roll to help clinch first place with his sax solo, in the song "Money" by Olive Juice.

GHS. 3RD. ANNUAL. AIRBAND CONTEST

Swaying to the sounds of Mr. Sand Man, The Chordettes work their way up to 2nd.

On a calmer note, Rob Santoro begins the song "Money" while waiting for an attack by bum Don Steele.

The judges, had a much easier time of it this year, because of the lack of participation.

The Beastie Boys were disqualified from the competition because of the alcohol they passed around during their song.

"You Gotta Shout" Robert Shaw sings to the popular oldie but goodie, "Shout!"

Dr. Dean subjects brave students to hypnosis

Taking students through many conditions such as extreme heat and thirst, Dr. Dean put students through hypnosis. It was a strange thing to watch. These hypnotized students no longer had say over what they were doing. Dr. Dean had their minds and bodies in his total control. They were asked to do things, such as singing and dancing uninhibitedly in front of a roaring crowd.

Whats wrong? Dr. Dean asks Keith Easler who taught him how to dress.

Go Go Girls! Graceful Andrea Radmilovich and all the other hypnotized girls try to be sexy.

Hypnotized? Upper right. Are these dancing fools really hypnotized? Dr. Dean could make them do anything.

Deeper asleep deeper! Dr. Dean has his patients wrapped around his finger. They would do anything for Dr. Dean.

Sing to me daddy! Sunny boy Don Steele while hypnotized sings with his daddy Dr. Dean

Hard work and good coaching help spur spikers

When it comes to push and shove, Brad Roppe and Kevin Corcoran had some trouble with this guy!

Del Andrus shows off his jump serve to intimidate the other team.

Brad Roppe appears as if in flight on the way to another kill.

During the second season of the Foothiller Boy's Volleyball Club, there was much improvement. This might partly be due to the excellent coaching of new coach Debbie Kane who lead the girl's team to CIF. However, it is also partly due to the fact that 11 out of the 14 players this season were returners from last year. Though there was disappointment that this was not an official sport in the Grossmont League the team was happy with the support they have received.

Ken Sweeney released the ball for another great set.

Three man block, Harry Mahler, Ken Sweeney, and Tommy Armijo stuff the other team's shot.

Lively pep assemblies spark Grossmont spirit

You could hear the laughter and see the excitement in the faces of hundreds of students seated together at pep assemblies. These Friday assemblies, organized by Spirit Commissioner, Lori Hunt, featured a variety of attractions, all doing their best to fire up our spirits for the night's game. How can we ever forget such great performances such as the volleyball C.I.F. moon, The water polo flash (psyche!) or Brad Roppe and Tom Horton's Bartles and James commercial takeoffs?

They not only lifted our spirits, but also helped build a feeling of pride and unity in Grossmont.

C.I.F. Moon Girls' varsity volleyball displayed their main goal for this season in a unique and eye catching way.

And this is Ed Brad Roppe and Tom Horton liven up the assemblies appearing as Frank Bartles and Ed James.

Soccerman Dain De Forest appears as a soccerman to ignite curiosity about soccer and draw bigger crowds to the games.

King Biceps Grossmont Guys try to prove just how tough and buff they really are in the first annual biceps contest.

Pyramid Varsity Cheer fires up and shows all of their glowing smiles while forming a difficult pyramid.

Candid cameras catch campus cavorting ...

Just when you thought it was safe, yearbook photographers zapped you during the year. While most photos were used in specified layouts, some seem to warrant use just for the fun of it. Whether they catch people off guard in crazy antics or just capture the essence of a particular moment, they help to show the character of Grossmont.

Bet you can't eat 16 hot dogs Annette DeLora ate some of the profits while working for the Junior Class in a booth at the Mother Goose Parade. Juniors still made money.

Soccer is a serious game as members of the Girls Varsity squad show following their meditation session. No none was hurt bad.

Strange illness — Hands began growing on the faces of students all around campus. Fortunately, oxyphenobryline removed hands without scars and only slightly noticeable side effects, hairy eyeballs.

spot stunned students, staff

Don't let it fall — Cross Country runner does conservation service by holding up tree during race. Runner didn't win but dogs all over town were very appreciative.

And when we needed a copy — and when we needed a copy — and when we needed a copy Becky Delmonico Smith helped, helped, he ...

Rebuttal in action Jon Fieldman makes his debate point with opponent Mike Mengoli.

Not much of a lunch student eyes key to losing weight, a tiny lunch.

Academics

Since the new graduation requirements have gone into effect, it has given students an incentive to work harder in order to both graduate and get accepted into the college of their choice. The new requirements are stricter on the years of math and science taken, as well as requiring more credits gained from academic electives, such as a third year of a foreign language, or a fourth year of math. Advanced placement courses are offered, making it possible for students to gain college credit for certain courses taken during their junior and senior years. Another program offered to benefit the students is the Regional Occupational Program, which places the student in a job to gain both school credit and job experience that will help him to find a job requiring that type of experience after high school.

Getting in tune — Chris Blitch does a little trouble shooting to determine necessary adjustments to get the most from a tune up. Auto shop got raves from students involved.

After taking endless pages of notes in physics, Rick Mueller stares out the window, waiting for class to end.

Creativity yields satisfaction, beauty in Art Dept.

Through art, students are given the chance to reveal their talent and creativity in a variety of fields. Drawing, pottery, photo and painting were the major areas in which students participated when enrolled in art classes and they produced projects worthy of use in district calendars, art contests, photo competitions and the campus literary magazine, Obra. In addition trips to museums, art shows and special speakers enhanced classes.

Working the wheel — Throwing pots was a main skill in ceramics. Many students found the activity to be much tougher than it looked.

Mask in the making — Brian Carlton prepares classmate's face for mask molding by placing paper strips strategically.

Preparing materials Marla Matavowsky works with the paper she will use in making her mask. Cutting and soaking were key steps.

How should I paint it? Chris Curran listens to instructor tips on finishing his mask by painting it with tempera colors.

Pretty messy despite covering up in aprons and towels, having a mask applied was often a sticky and gooey proposition for art class.

Instrumental music develops solid sound of success

Music is a big part of student life at the high school level, especially for those with ideas about being a performer. Hiller musicians got ample opportunity to develop and display their instrumental talents throughout the 1986-87 school year. Under the direction of Jim Nichols, the marching band, stage band, pep band and select groups of performers took part in parades, shows, the Christmas pageant, pep assemblies and joint performances with the vocal music department.

Along with the performances came awards in competitions at the district, local and regional level. Based on their expertise, several Grossmont students were invited to play in community or "all star" groups.

Beyond the award consideration students gained the chance to develop in music an art which will give them a lifetime of personal pleasure and expression.

Hitting the high notes — flutists contribute to a light-hearted number during practice. High interest kept every chair full in band.

Brass rings out with power — much of the body of sound generated by the band came from an experienced brass section.

Rhythm section — percussionists helped to provide band with the bottom line rhythm very evident in marching situations.

Listen to that Sax — Dan Stark plays sax as band practices under the direction of Jim Nichols. Practices paid off at performances.

Photo focuses on sharp images, developing skills

Program stresses learning from and for children

Child Development is a class taught by Mrs. Lundy. In this class students are taught things, ranging from sewing and different art projects to learning the care of a child.

In May Preschool children are brought in and the students are given the chance to work with the children on various projects. This class is taken and enjoyed by many students, both male and female.

Working hard Students work to improve their skills in child development.

Cleaning up Kelly Hankins begins to clean up after a day's work in child development.

Auto technology draws students solves problems

Just about done friend he's almost ready to start it.

Driven hard — Bill Cable examines drive shaft on 4 wheeler fresh from the mud.

Washing up — after working hard, Jim Swartwood cleans up for next class.

Just right — Oil level checks out for Chris Blitch after change and filter.

A familiar view for auto students and staff with car worries, shop is "open".

Grossmont's automotive program displayed the finest to be seen in vocational programs. Students developed real usable skills which were tested on their own and faculty vehicles. With Ken Lehr's capable instruction, the members of the class showed in automotive competitions that they knew how to keep things running smoothly. Many students moved right into industry jobs.

World of language opens up eyes to cultures

From Mexico City to Heidelberg from Paris to Madrid, the culture available to Grossmont students through the Foreign Language Dept. was endless. While the classes gave college bound students a chance to meet entrance requirements, they impacted a great deal more in enriching personal experiences. Students gained the ability to speak and write in foreign languages, thus allow — them to enjoy vacations, pen pals and foreign language papers but also gained some important insight into the common traits of humans from every nationality.

Spanish, French and German were the official offerings in the department, but field trips and exchange students were part of the program.

Attentive listeners — Spanish students tune into explanation from instructor Carlos Ortiz.

Camera watcher — camera draws Mark Stiwell's attention away from Mrs. Quick's test.

Testing auditory skills, Mrs. Quick plays a Spanish language tape for class to hear.

Taking notes — understanding a foreign language often required good study skills.

Guest speaker — sharing some world-wide views on foreign languages, speaker holds attention.

Math classes yield college concepts, consumer skills

From fundamental skills to the most complicated theorems, the math program offered students a chance to gain useful information for their future. The department was geared to both help students remediate fundamentals and work with concepts applicable to what is sure to be crucial in science.

Checking up Checking homework has been found very important in this math class.

Getting ready to go Todd Yarborough reaches for his backpack as the end of the period draws near.

Catching the camera's eye Mrs. Ridgeway keeps himself busy by recording test scores.

Working and listening Students in Mr. Peairs Geometry class work on catching up with their homework.

Journalists gather, report new ideas to campus

Displaying some of the finest in student produced literary work, El Recuerdo, Foothill Echoes and Obra developed students with a wide range of editorial, artistic and photographic talents. Each publication provided the writers with an opportunity to have works published and brought to the GHS student body material which was insightful, provocative and very entertaining. Each publication received awards for excellence.

Looking back A student looks back on past issues of the echoes trying to gather ideas.

Checking up Chanel Kayle looks over an article, studying in various sections.

Under pressure Annual staff students busy themselves to get the book done.

Doing business Chris Manderson makes a phone call, trying to gather information for an article.

Science fulfills interests

Performing a lab, students find out what happens when two substances react.

Confused over homework, Christina Lincoln consults Mrs. Emerson for help.

Listening intently, students copy notes and concentrate on Mr. Eklund's lesson.

Checking their mistakes, students look at the walk around answer sheets to a test.

The science department offered various science classes to fit each student's interests as well as their schedule. For the graduation requirement, basic science courses such as the physical and earth sciences and biology were offered. Higher science classes like chemistry, physics, and the accelerated AP courses including chemistry, physics, and biology were an option for those wishing to fill pre-requisites for colleges.

Biology at its best

Biology has just become a requirement for graduation, and most students opt to take it their sophomore year, unless they plan to enroll in the new-added AP course their junior or senior year. Biology is the most basic of the higher sciences, and is the easiest to understand, according to most students later enrolled in chemistry or physics. Biology encapsulates most subjects of the life sciences, spending chapters on evolution, cells, invertebrates, genetics, and ecology. Labs are also included in the course outline, which gives the students lab experience needed for later science courses, and also helps the student better understand the concepts of the unit at hand. The year spent in biology gives students an idea of which science they wish to pursue the next year.

Lecturing to the class, Mr. Widener explains phylums, classes, and species.

AP classes offer head start to highly motivated

Seeking college credits before they even leave the confines of the Grossmont campus, many more are enrolling in advanced placement classes designed to help them pass rigorous tests which will get them college units in English, math or history. Demands are heavy for the rewards earned.

Offering a critique with an essay required in AP English class she taught.

Literary Analysis — A major element of the AP English program was the interpretation of literature through well written essays and class members were given ample chance to write.

Students scramble to keep up with GPA demands

Many people realize that getting good grades is difficult, and keeping them is even harder. There are many ways of studying made evident at GHS. Some students wish to work on last minute touches before the bell rings, during lunch or come in after school for help. Either way students will do what they can to keep up their grades.

Scott Haight works diligently on getting his Pre-Calculus problems solved.

Chris Coats gathers last minute papers to be turned in to Mrs. Adams' English class.

Honor Grads make it to the top, earn gold tassels

Honor Grads which had a 3.5 GPA or better, were: L. Vinh, L. Ruskin, M. Jacobs, E. Tyrell, A. Kamahi, M. Donnelly, J. Kong, C. Coats, S. Haight, M. Fountain, J. Smith, D. De Forest, M. Mengoli, J. Weaver, N. Hamano, A. Temple, R. Shamoun, S. Tomes, W. McManus, K. Zavala, S. Sodano, J. Adams, M. Savary, D. Voss, A. Woods, K. Laughlin, S. Kline, D. Strauss, E. Posk, B. Bernhard, M. Dotson, M. Harris.

An inspiring mind — Jenny Kong talks with Mr. Ecklund about some principles of Physics.*

Asking more questions? Gina Polidoro stops the teacher to ask questions on her homework.*

Valedictorians make the grade, prepare to speak

Becoming a valedictorian takes a lot of time and hard work. These students have held a 4.0 throughout three of their four years at Grossmont. They have worked hard and accomplished quite a lot. These students are well admired for their accomplishments and hard work. They didn't just spend all of their time studying but also held down part time jobs and were involved in extracurricular activities. Most of them were enrolled in honors or AP classes, and excelled wonderfully in them. All the hours that these five students have put into school are now paying off. They will all move on to separate colleges and become as prosperous as they can be. You, the valedictorians of 1987, we congratulate you for all you have done.

A life of luxury — Dana Carlson hopes the grades she received in high school will provide her own Mercedes.

Looking forward to the future — Hours of studying, hard work, and perfection has paid off for Ben Giese.

Bank of America winner Rob Burwell doesn't regret any of the time he put into his school work.

Bank of America Achievement Awards were awarded to twelve students in specific fields of Art, Drama, Music, English, Foreign Languages, Social Sciences, Laboratory Science, Mathematics, Business, Computer Science, Trades and Industrial, and Home Economics ... The students were nominated by department staff. They were recognized for their abilities in specific areas. The specific category winners were awarded certificates in their areas.

Along with the twelve certificate winners, there were four plaque winners in general fields. Plaques were awarded in the general areas of Applied Arts, Liberal Arts, Fine Arts and Science and Mathematics. Students who received plaque awards were recognized for their notable abilities and efforts in these areas. Plaque winners were also nominated by departments.

Seniors

Screams of spirit shot out of mouths, blue and gold attire flashed in the sunlight. The class of '87 was determined to make their senior year the best possible.

Many seniors were glad to finally be given senior status for this meant "good lockers," a first time chance to purchase a parking space, and the senior prom.

As the year progressed, traditional thoughts raced through minds — college applications and financial aid forms, full-time jobs, interviews, talking to recruiters about the military, and of course the thought of completing four years of high school.

School pride and spirit will not end after graduation. The class of '87 will always be proud to have attended Grossmont High School.

*Because drama students have gained experience through three years of acting at GHS, seniors are often given lead roles. Mike Dotson, Gretchen Hall, and Timbrely Pearsley spend many hours rehearsing for the play, The Children's Hour.*

By helping with one of the many booths at the Homecoming Fair, Renae Marinesi reveals her school dedication.

This year's seniors are the first to wear the traditional blue and gold cap and gown at Grossmont's own Jack Mashin Stadium.

Chanting a victory cheer, a group of spirited seniors roots Grossmont's football team on to another win.

Setting up labs for chemistry classes and grading papers are parts of Scott Haight's and Mischa Fountain's responsibilities as lab aides. Many seniors choose to be lab, office, or teacher's aides for the experience that it provides.

Jamar, great to been pe with you this year the studs of volli-tennis! You have a great personality. Your face always have a smile on your face that I will always remember you and me and we shall "PARTY!" OK KIT 579-7768. Call for next year and As Always, Waughy Polgath

Leadership in action

Leadership has taken a very important role among seniors here at Grossmont. Leadership has been represented in many ways throughout the year. It ranges anywhere from club and class meetings to lunch time activities. Shown here are just a few examples of how seniors express their leadership abilities.

Underclass/ Student Life

Hello? Telephones on Grossmont's campus are always occupied by students during lunchtime. Jennifer Jensen makes a quick call to a sick friend while sipping her Diet Pepsi.

Like most things in life, being an underclassman is inevitable. Most people reflect upon these years as being some of the best in their lives. Being a freshman is confusing at first, but it gets easier as you go. They have to cope with final exams, class credit, and being called freshmen for the first time.

The sophomore year is harder because this year's GPA really counts for college. They get serious about homework and learn that dissection can be fun.

The junior year goes by rapidly because now you can drive, take part time jobs after school and take many of your hardest classes like chemistry. They also take the SAT and prepare for college while looking forward to their senior year.

They will always remember these four years. They'll hear the bells ring, the national anthem play, and pep assemblies roar. They'll also see their friends, the school spirit and good times.

Yum! Josh Gillen snacks on a ham sandwich as he hides behind his history book from Mr. Buller, his teacher.

Flowers for sale. Sacrificing their lunchtime, Wendy Hodgetts and Karin Overstreet sell roses for the Sophomore Assembly.

Heave! Cle Quijencio shows her support by collecting canned foods during second period for the can drive to help needy families.

Chit-chat Underclassmen talk over lunch.

Creativity. After school in the Publicity Room, Angie Calman and Adina Lamprecht work together to make colorful posters for the day's big game.

Juniors push on to make final year the best yet

The Junior class has accomplished many things this year. They have participated in many fund raising activities such as two car washes, Hotdog stands, and game booths at the fair. They showed their compassion when they threw a free party for Juniors, in order to collect toys for kids at Christmas. Advisor, Mr. Foggiano is the class of '88's third advisor. He has proven how committed and enthusiastic he is being their newest advisor. He expects to be available to serve as the class advisor through graduation, because the Junior Class — the Class of '88 — is almost there!

Special Education: striving for excellence

Not always seen, and not always heard, yet always there. Special education is an active part of Grossmont High School. Diligently participating in the pep assemblies as well as other school activities, these kids are a special part of Grossmont's student body. Taught by some very talented teachers they looked towards the future as they strived for excellence.

Taking a break from the routine of studying, the Special Education classes gather in the cafeteria to eat lunch. See the pride. Special Education student displays his prize winning mask. Deep in thought, Special Education student concentrates while painting her mask.

As you walk through the many malls of San Diego, you can see many familiar faces. Not only those shopping, but also those working. Many Grossmonters have joined the working force. Realizing that they need money to enjoy the pleasures of life, they set out in search of jobs, and many have succeeded in finding one. The variety of jobs range from fast food to clothing, but each serve the purpose of income.

Kim Peterson helps a Miller's Outpost customer during the busy holiday season. Carol Hughes, a Gap employee, struggles to keep a stack of jeans from toppling on her. Service with a smile. Bobby McGee's workers Brian Collins, Shannon Roberts, and Jay Miller pose to have picture taken.

Illegal Parking; A Common Problem at G.H.S.

Grossmont parking lots are full of illegally parked cars in the morning hours. Because of the new tardy policy, students at G.H.S. take the risk and park in the red zone, district parking lot, or in other unauthorized places. The new Senior parking spaces, which were auctioned off at the beginning of the year, give Seniors a break, but unfortunately, underclassmen do not have the same advantage.

What? No parking? Students at G.H.S. risk getting a ticket just to get a convenient parking place for the day.

Juniors build momentum, focus on performance

Juniors worked hard at keeping busy this year. Whether it was classwork, helping out at one of the Junior Judiciary activities, or just going out with a few of their friends, this was a very eventful year for the Junior class.

Oops! It seems as though El Recuerdo has caught Junior Holly Fleming off guard in a moment of distraction away from her Algebra III.

Everyday about noon, groups of friends gather together to discuss the latest happenings. With Dan Wise, Mike Weber, and Jamie Marsh it is no different. Talk about subjects from dates to parties, to skateboarding and that 'big test' were just a few of the subjects discussed.

Flicks remain top entertainment among students

When Grossmont High School students want to escape from the everyday rigors of school life, they go to the movies. From down-under to outerspace to the arms of Tom Cruise there has been a wide variety of movies to capture everyone's hearts. Most of the students will be found at the Santee Village 8 because of reduced rates for students. Whatever type of person you are, a brain, a jock, a basket case, a princess, or a thief, there is a movie for you!

A FAVORITE of Grossmont students is Eddie Murphy. This time he's back in the Golden Child.

VOTED BEST MOVIE of the summer: Top Gun was a favorite at Grossmont. For girls — probably because of Tom Cruise. For guys — probably because of the air scenes.

"GOOD DAY MATE!" says Paul Hogan as Crocodile Dundee from down-under.

Determined sophomores aiming towards the future

Along with a strong council an energetic sophomore assembly contributed a very important part in raising money for the class. Fund raisers were conducted throughout the year and this led their financial status to rise. Numerous accomplishments were made by these ambitious students with a little guidance from their dedicated advisors.

Friendships lighten the load of a hectic day

Through the good and bad times at school students always had their friends there to share the laughs with and at the same time alleviate the pain. It might be between classes when they pass through the halls waiting to see that shimmering smile on that certain persons face. There's the lunch time gang, your English buddies, and those brief acquaintances that make life a little more bearable.

Awe . . . Isn't that cute? Denise Torres and Lisa Gregg kept each other smiling.

Foothiller Fashion Fiends

"What's in today is out tomorrow," so the famous saying goes. Although there are trends and fads that die out and are forgotten, there are always certain fashions that are so uniquely different that they stand out. Boots were a common sight on campus, ranging from plain and short to ones with colorful designs with studs and rhinestones. Girls' long hair was pulled back and caught at the back of the neck with a bow, or it was pulled all the way up in a banana clip. As the months go by, the Foothillers search frantically for the boldest, the brightest, the most outrageous with one objective in mind: to be the first.

Lana Bianchi and Jerelyn Heinrichs model the latest in hair trends; the banana clip.

Being a sophomore at Grossmont is not always very easy. The career and family studies classes as well as the computer classes can sometimes load on the intense stress! Lunchtime seems to provide an inviting break to all the hustle-bustle. It also gives some free time to relax!

The wide variety of delicious foods to look forward to are everything from hot ham-n-cheese to a bowl of hot, spicy chili.

"Lunchtime is something I can definitely look forward to!" stated sophomore Jennifer Jensen.

Frosh officers set sights ahead for a strong future

Where's the library? Where's room 12? Can you tell me where Mr. Plum's office is? These are just a few of the many questions students ask when they first arrive at GHS. After a few weeks, however, students learned new things about GHS everyday. All the Freshman officers showed their enthusiasm and interest in their class by starting the class of 1990 off to a great start. They began to fill up their treasury with various fundraisers such as the celebrity auction, selling pizza at Homecoming, a t-shirt sale and cleaning up after home football games.

Rest and rowdiness mark summer vacation trips

Summer vacation is probably the most exciting and awaited time for students. Traveling with family and friends over vacation is how most students spend their three month leave. Whether it be spending hours at the beach, staying at camp, seeing sights in the U.S. or traveling to another country, students meet new people and see new sights. Some people stayed near home this last summer for the reason of the hijacking scare on planes while others took advantage of the low rate fares.

Grossmont sounds off to a new scene in music

Grossmont High School students enjoy various amounts of different kinds of music. Everything from Iggy Pop, "Cry For Love" to Ratts, "Smoking In The Boys" Room. But a new state of music seems to have hit hard on Grossmont High School. Run DMC, "You Be Illin'" and "Walk This Way" have been two of the biggest hits this year.

Students shop choice spots for value, fun

September: School clothes and school books. Christmas: dance dresses and tuxedos. Crushing Christmas crowds, wrapping paper, ribbons and tape, putting finishing touches on presents. Wrapping birthday presents, anniversary gifts or special day packages. It didn't matter who it was for shoppers took the time choosing something for that special occasion. Favorite spots include — Grossmont Center, Fashion Valley and Misson Valley.

Neiman-Marcus is a choice spot for students with more discriminating tastes and less discriminating wa-lets. This is not an average bargain store.

Hungry students fill local food spots at lunch

Eating, what a great thing to do for fun with friends. Local food spots often are filled with students at lunch and after school. The choices of where to eat are unlimited. The fast food hot spots are where most high school students are seen having fun and pigging out. Hungry yet? Eating out could be the best part of the wonderful day of school.

Que Pasa? Have you been surfing all day? Hungry? Do you want something hot and fast? ROBERTO'S mexican food is always a favorite choice.

New for you! At Grossmont Center the new Carlos Murphy's attracts many students for great foods.

Ding Dong. When G.H.S. students get the munchies Taco Bell is there. Jeff Lapp, Bill Powers, Holly Lobleson, Billy Santoni, play on the famous bell.

Humm ... What's Penguins? The favorite frozen yogurt of Grossmont students ... Vanessa Canrinus eagerly awaits the taste of the creamy yogurt.

Thirsty? Hungry? Let's go to Jack's!! When Foothillers get those hunger pangs, Jack In The Box calls. Christy Roth is seen coming out of the box quenching her thirst with a coke.

Grossmont campus, community combine to stage

Open house and Red Ribbon week in late October, turned out to be a lasting success. Students proudly wore red ribbons to show their enthusiasm for the war against drug use. Parents gathered at Open House to show their concern about drug abuse and to learn what their children are learning in education today. Paul Gardner, Dr. Dan Watson and Robert Bower were guest speakers at the PTSA meeting. The entire meeting focused on drugs and made the parents and students more aware of substance abuse in high schools today.

Organizations

Enthusiasm. Renee Marinesi got excited as she urged fellow students to join Girls' League, a club open to guys and girls.

With over 30 chartered clubs and organizations, Grossmont students stayed active. Noon seemed to be the busiest of all times. Students had to constantly ask themselves, "Which meeting should I go to?" Clubs were supposed to schedule in advance the time they wanted to meet on the master calendar. That didn't always happen though. This caused the problem of poor attendance for meetings.

Many of the clubs' activities went beyond campus projects. The Girls' League held their annual canned food drive to help the needy in December, SADD promoted awareness about drugs and alcohol throughout the community and the Senior Senate along with the senior class started a tradition, new to Grossmont. That is, this year's graduation was held in Grossmont's stadium.

Creativity went beyond club projects with the founding of some new clubs on campus. To name a few there was the Animation Group, Surf Club Part II, Encore and Cycling Club. Grossmonters showed their spirit and their pride as they cheered, competed, cycled, surfed, and started traditions of their own.

Eagerness. Dain De Forest signed up to support the Senior Senate.

Ensemble, a group of extremely well talented, young individuals whose love for singing reaches the highest note.

What is now the past and part of Grossmont's history has been a year to remember for our Red Robe Choir. Not only did they succeed in keeping up the honored tradition that our choir has mastered over the years but in addition had a new advisor. Mr. Basilio came into the class with refreshing and interesting new concepts which improved the choir's overall achievement. When asked what he thought made the choir so special, Mr. Basilio replied by stating, "Unity, regardless of the student's economic background or home atmosphere all students are equal in the ability to sing."

Behind all the glory came hard work and dedication. The choir will go on lifting our hearts and souls even if it's just the memories that we're hearing . . .

Royal Blue Regiment produces spectacular sound

Many hours of practice has paid off for the Royal Blue Regiment. At Chaffey, the band received the highest music score of the Blue Ribbon Bands. Overall, they came in second place. They also performed at Disneyland, San Dieguito, the Music Bowl Tournament, Mother Goose Parade and were also featured on National television in the pre-game and halftime of the Charger-Raider game in November. The director, Jim Nichols, has helped make the Royal Blue Regiment the most talented and enthusiastic in our district.

As Grossmont's advanced dance class performed at talent shows, basketball games and pep rallies, they enlightened the stage with their strength and gracefulness.

"Ms. Harguindeguy has the quality of a good dance teacher," Shannon Brown said.

International Club sees opportunities

Known for encouraging all GHS students to get involved, the International Club has grown in popularity. Having over 65 club members, including foreign students, the I-Club tried to promote friendship and understanding among foreign exchange students and Americans. The supervisors, Peg van den Akker, Peter Pitard, and Alec Penny involved the students in activities throughout the year. This was to let them see the customs, cultures, and ways of American life. Some of the events of the year were a Padre game, the Feld Ballet, and a beach BBQ party. The events also included trips to Tijuana, BC, New York, Washington DC, and Williamsburg. All of these made up the "American Experience," one of which would not be forgotten soon. "American life is very different." BV.

A big "olé" for our cultured Spanish Club

¡Divertirse! Having fun, that's what the Spanish Club is all about. But also to "interact and develop friendships with other students that are interested in hispanic culture and language," says President, Julie Goble. Spanish was mostly spoken at their social functions so that the members could utilize all they had learned in their classes. From selling candy bars to taquitos, the club alone had grossed over $1,600 during the year. And what did they do with all their money? They had pizza parties, bought Christmas presents for the Mexican orphans, and donated a VCR to the Spanish Department. ¡Bueno Suerte!

Vice President Jon Fieldman discusses homecoming boothies with the club.

Boy's Fed shouts enthusiasm through tradition

The Fed brought unity to GHS once again. Long searching for an advisor started them in slow motion, but Mrs. Kay Adams came to the rescue. They were back on their feet again.

President Mike Clavell followed the tradition with the annual car show and kept Grossmonters up to date with events announced on the marquis. He kept us informed of what may have been one of the best years for GHS sports. "If it wasn't for Mrs. Adams the Fed wouldn't be what it is today, and we're all very grateful," said Clavell.

Girls' League expands into new horizons

Girls' League has expanded through the years and now even has members from both genders. Headed by Mica Alvarez, Girls' League took charge of many functions such as the Little Sis-Big Sis picnic, canned food drive, powder puff football, and the spring fashion show.

Fund raisers such as Ghost Grams and the homecoming booth raised money for further expansion.

Mrs. Jerry Lundy, advisor, helped guide the club in the right direction for her second year. "She has been an inspiration," said Alvarez.

Students show their spirit through the successful sale of ghost grams by the finance office.

DECA is Excellence in Action

What is DECA?

DECA is a co-curricular program that works hand-in-hand with our own marketing course at Grossmont. Running Hillers isn't the only thing we do. DECA members learn marketing skills and the club provides the chance to use these skills in competition. This year GHS DECA traveled to Long Beach, Salt Lake City, and in March to Palo Alto to compete. These conferences were the most exciting activities offered by DECA. Success in competitive events took hard work and dedication but the rewards of travel, recognition, and, in some cases, scholarships or valuable contacts with corporate leaders were well worth it.

A whirlwind of DECA activities includes campaigning, selling and enjoying friends.

Selling Squad proves dedication

The hard working Selling Squad is an organization that raised money for the student body. At all the home games the squad was earning money at the concession stands.

have benefited from being involved in such a great club. Besides hard work, members make new friends and have tons of fun. A rewarding club.

Many Selling Squad members

Dedicated Selling Squad club members, Jean Stollenwerk V.P. and Rita Jeffries Pres.

The Selling Squad members were Susie Copeland, Michael Fangman, Andrea Woods, Kaarn Hopkins, Julie Terrázas, Jean Stollenwerk, Rita Jeffries, Shannon Kline, and Jeff Mengoli.

IN ACTION! Rita Jeffries is selling candy to students at lunch. Looks like fun!

Hardworking Publicity Club brightens GHS campus

Covering the school with bold and colorful posters, our enthusiastic members of the Publicity Club kept GHS students well informed of school events and all athletic activities. The ability to creatively paint information on paper, plus the endless time and effort put into the job, was exactly what it took to keep the Hillers' campus well publicized. And with the leadership of the club's Pres. Ken Sweeney, all publicizing ran smoothly.

The finished product. Four eager club members put up the publicity.

Hardworking officers: Brad Roppe, Ken Sweeney, Angee Calman, and Jennifer Renz.

Publicity members: M. Weaver, M. Mengoli, T. Jurado, K. Franzen, H. Lobelson, J. Lorenzen, L. Howe, A. Calman, K. Sweeney, K. Overstreet, L. Schmidt, S. Embry, L. Richardson, K. Hopkins, L. Suarez, J. Renz, D. Copeland, M. McTighe, N. Millett, L. West, L. Torriente.

Enthusiastic Spirit Club cheers for GHS

The familiar sound of cheering and enthusiastic laughter was often heard at most Hiller sporting events. An excited group of GHS students huddled together to root on the home team more than enough times at the night football games. Not only did this spaztic group of guys and girls, known as the Spirit Club, attend only the Varsity football games, but nearly all sporting events. And with a hyper club Pres. Lori Hunt, GHS responded with spirit!

Spirit Club members: A. Kamahi, M. Savary, J. Sloss, A. Alpert, G. Bakunas, H. Lobelson, K. Franzen, B. Roppe, T. Horton, C. Currin, G. Fontana, A. Duffield, K. Hopkins, S. Kline, A. Calman, V. Canrinus, A. Bartlett, J. LaRussa, M. Clavell, L. Hunt, and the rest of the guys and girls of the spaztic clan!

Creating school spirit. A hyper group of guys, called the "Bleacher Creatures", brought fun to all f-ball games.

Spirited Lorie Hunt displays her everyday condition!

The more the spirited! With the help of so many peppy Spirit Club officers, the organization came alive!

SADD fights for safer streets, student health.

SADD helped spread the word to students of the dangers of drinking and driving. Even though this club was only in its second year at Grossmont it proved to be one of the biggest clubs on campus. A big part of the student body was involved with SADD. There were over 45 members.

In San Diego alone over 50 percent of all fatal car accidents were caused by drinking drivers. Students against drunk drivers fought to beat the statistics. The bumper stickers stated it the best, "Friends don't let friends drive drunk."

President Jerry Brewer and vice-president Ashley Duffield are concerned members of SADD.

Encore enhances ASB ... ... Election Board tallies

One of the newest clubs on campus this year was Encore. It originated to help the ASB class when they had too big of a load. The members consisted of students who wanted to be in the leadership class. They were very helpful to the ASB class.

Election Board members spent a lot of time preparing elections and counting ballots. They were in charge of all the elections throughout the school year. They gave up much of their free time to count ballots. Wendy Dennis was this year's Commissioner of Elections.

ON TOP. Lisa Howe, Mandy Weaver, and Wendy Dennis were the leaders of Encore and Election Board this year.

The reward! An entire wall of Mrs. Galvin's classroom is filled with trophies, ribbons, and plaques, showing the success of Grossmont's Speech Team.

Coach Galvin. Playing a big role in the success of the GHS Speech Team is Coach Galvin. She helps the members of the team write their speeches, she critiques them, and, most of all, knows what the judges are looking for.

Speech and Debate Team brings honor to Grossmont High School

The Grossmont Speech and Debate Team is a regionally competitive squad, traveling as far as Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Cincinnati, Ohio, to participate in the various events.

The team competes in many tournaments during the year, but the four big ones are the State Qualifiers, State Finals, Districts, and then the National Speech Tournament. At these tournaments there are different categories in which a speaker may choose to compete, such as Debate, Oratory, Impromptu, Dramatic Interp., and Extemp. The judges, which team member, David Cohen states, "are a strange breed," look for preparedness, poise, and interesting subjects. After each speech the speaker receives a critique, or ballot, from the judges.

Aside from tournament competition, speakers also represent GHS at oratorical contests sponsored by local service clubs, such as Lions Club and Rotary Club.

This year's Speech Team has both quality and experience. Two returning members reached National competition last year. Mike Mengoli has been with the team for four years and is ranked in the top 100 speakers in the country. The dedication and hard work of this group, coupled with the encouragement and expert advice of Coach Galvin, make for a winning team — one that brings honor and pride to Grossmont High School.

Such poise! Mike Mengoli smiles with confidence while giving an extemp. speech on foreign policy, his area of expertise.

The Academic Team plays it smart . . .

At the Academic Decathlon, the day after Grossmont's Homecoming, the Academic Team spent all day, from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M., taking six written tests. The tests were taken individually in science, economics, fine arts, social science, mathematics, and essay. Team members were also expected to give two speeches. The first was prepared, the second impromptu. There were three categories of competition. They were scholastic, honors, and varsity. John Daryl Thornton placed first in the county in interview in the scholastic category. As a whole, the Academic Team placed fifth in East County. At the end of the day, the nine teams met in the auditorium for a final competition called the Superquiz. One person from each team sat on the auditorium floor while the other members of the team watched from the bleachers. The person was asked five or six questions and their score was instantly known to everyone by the scoreboards placed directly behind each player.

The Decathlon was the first out of two competitions for the team. They prepared for it two mornings a week at 7 A.M. They practiced with the buzzers pictured below. The team worked diligently, at studying, memorizing, and practicing economic facts, different languages, and math problems. Their second competition was covered in eight different weeks and was as strenuous as the first competition. The team had a successful year with new advisors, Mrs. Lorenzen and Mr. Ashman.

First rate Academic Clubs strive for excellence

Faithfully, the Math Club met every Wednesday to prepare for the SDSU competition. Not only did they prepare themselves for their own competition, but they also helped fellow students prepare for the math section on the SAT. Along with these activities the club worked towards new goals of getting a math-computer center and starting their own Grossmont Invitational, which would be practice for the San Diego State competition.

AP Biology/Physiology students made up this year's Advanced Science Club. They had class four days a week, with a two hour lab every Wednesday morning which began at 6:50 and then held no class on Friday mornings. The club planned a week long field trip to Yosemite to study and research the animal life and another field trip to the tide-pools.

The Computer Club gave their best effort at trying to keep people aware of computers and to help familiarize them with new ones. The club gave demonstrations and went to La Jolla to see the new Super-Computer. They also planned a trip to see the Grossmont District's new computer. One of the club's unique qualities was that they could print, and they did their own newsletters. The club has gained in popularity which made for a good year.

Cycling Club — Motivated

Being relatively new this year, the Cycling Club has been a big hit. With competitive riders like Keith Easler and Jennifer Smith, the club was very motivated. Weekly rides around San Diego and local competitions kept the club moving.

Rolling Along. Junior Keith Easler makes it to the finish line, early.

Surf's Up. Sophomore John Hazlett comes in from the water.

Surf Club — Part I and II

The Surf Club Parts I and II gave two meanings to the sport of surfing. Part I members were the ones who actually got in the water. Part II members were the dry ones with the binoculars. Both parts do share one thing — they love, surfing.

(Back row) M. Cepinski, T. Bridges, B. Hermann, D. Kim, B. Hallinger, B. Zamudio, B. Gallenberger, M. Yoder, J. McDonald, D. Crogan, J. Steinbaugh, M. Swingle, D. Kennedy, N. Antonio, H. Ryan, C. ## Ski Club — Still Popular

With a late snow fall this year the Ski Clubs Mammoth and Tahoe trips seemed impossible at first. Luckily everything went on schedule. Being one of the most popular clubs on campus, the Ski Club provided fun and excitement for everyone.

Ski Bunnies. Juniors Lana Bianchi and Cle Quijencio, ready to hit the slopes.

Skate Club — big success

Skateboarding, one of today's most popular pastimes had much success at GHS. No one expected the first-time club to have such a big turnout. There are no local competitions for the skaters so they made due with backyard ramps.

(Back row) D. Lupien, D. Berlin, P. Early, C. Canton, M. Brewer, J. Bond, L. Hartigan, H. Teeter, M. Mahler, (Middle row) M. Moran, D. Lesner, C. Randall, J. LaBundo, E. Nelson, A. Rosenthal, C. # Animation Club draws a new future

Animation Club was one of the newest clubs on campus. It was designed for those students who liked to draw. Some drew by hand, some painted, and some even designed them with their computers. The club's drawings and paintings can be found in the G.H.S. library. Many club members have attended animation conventions and museums looking at different types of art. Vinh Le put the club together not knowing what kind of response he would get, but his worries went for not as numerous students joined the club!

And the winner is? Vinh Le discusses an upcoming animation fair.

On your mark. Get set. GO! Brad Trimmer and Pierre Amadorrace to see who can draw the best picture in a five minute period. The Animation Club sponsored numerous events like this one during their lunch time meetings.

Club members: (front row) V. Le, S. Le, J. Kasper, B. Johnson, M. Nichols, P. Amador, B. Trimmer, (back row) J. Golden, P. Thai, B. DeMasi, R. Dipp, M. Copeland, D. Tai, J. Langston.

Tumbleweeds roll with dignity and pride!

Tumbleweeds had an exciting and eventful year. They had many activities against the Daisy Chainers. Lori Hunt organized the club for the seniors who were not chosen for the Daisy Chain. The club tumbled into its third year of existence. Once again Dave Brown was the advisor of the club. The club held many fund raising activities. They held an organizational night at Penguin's Frozen Yogurt where they received twenty percent off all yogurt purchased there during the night. They sold See's suckers at the varsity baseball games and around campus. "We organized the club to honor those seniors who deserved to make the Daisy Chain, but were not picked to be a member," said Hunt. These seniors continued to prove that no matter who you are it is truly an honor to be a student at Grossmont!

Everybody be there! Advisor Dave Brown tells club members to go to Penguin's and buy their yogurt!

German Club: The German connection at Grossmont.

Foreign speakers gather for fun to share the friendships and fun of a language. The German Club members enjoyed many learning experiences. Being a part of this club meant making new friends, having fun, and participating in great fund raisers. The German Club made a lot of money for their great club. They should be proud.

The officers of the German Club are Jason McDonald V.P., Debbie DeGroot Treas., Nicole Kent Pres., Jeff Langston Sec., and Mr. Weill the advisor.

The German Club members were, John Honeck, Jeff Meyer, Scott Haight, Debbie DeGroot, Dan Berkon, Mr. Weill, Olin Dirks, Levente Juhasz, Marion Kummerow, Jeff Langston, Nicole Kent, Derek Hanson, Kathi Wise.

FRIENDS. Mr. Weill tries to speak as new friends, Debbie DeGroot, Jeff Meyer, and Dan Berkon have fun talking during a German Club meeting. What a great way to spend lunch, with friends!

Rep Council sought improvements for Foothillers

Addressing a wide range of student concerns, the Rep Council continued to wield considerable influence in the areas of school environment and activities. Presided over by ASB Vice President Mike Mengoli, the group took action this year to improve cleanliness of student restrooms, close some gaps in balloting for Homecoming court by including Psych classes and selected the Student Affairs Commissioner. Monthly visits with Principal Bob Brady opened up communication with administration and reps brought classroom voiced concerns to the council for action.

At the podium, ASB Secretary Holly Holt takes roll; Advisor Gloria Jones explains procedural channels for Homecoming activities; Jeff Mengoli, Student Affairs, discusses school improvement projects. Talking money, Senior President Michaeljohn Paul discusses budget.

After discussion, students in Mrs. Adams' AP English class vote on their choice for the Homecoming theme. The Hollywood theme won out.

Sports

Cleats thudding against pigskin, shot putters groaning in an all out effort for victory, the sweet sounding swish of the ball through the hoop — during all seasons Grossmont's winning teams display never ending spirit. We all take pride in our teams — whether we participate or if we are only supportive fans.

Becoming an athlete cannot be accomplished overnight. It takes many years to bring one to perfection. Extra time after school must be devoted to tedious and strenuous workouts. The agonized gasp of the distance swimmer, the rhythm of the sprinter's spikes attaining his stride, the repetitious swing of the batter — all of these things go toward perfecting the athlete.

All Hillers took pride in seeing our Varsity Football and Volleyball teams reach CIF. The spectators were just as important as the team in ensuring a successful season. The crowds witnessed many spectacular events this year and Hillers were proud.

Time out. Mark Cappelletti and Vince Tomasello watch the Hillers in action from the sideline.

Stretching; Cross Country takes time to loosen up before a big meet.

Strength, Grossmont man passes to his teammate who waits for the perfect score!

One-on-One. It's a fight for the ball, teammates Norman Antonio and Paul Wright go at it!

Hillers are hot . . .

Hillers get to it, Hillers get it done.

Our 1986 Varsity Football team did well this year. For the first time in eight years we tied with our rivals, Helix. We had possession of the musket for half the school year.

The defense showed their fighting power, holding our opponents to an average of eight points per game.

The offensive line came on strong by scoring quickly and consistently against all their opponents.

We all had plenty of enjoyable times at these games. This was just one way we all kept up our fighting Foothiller spirit throughout the 1986 season.

Tension mounts. Quarterback Mark Stillwell and coach Cole discuss the strategy in the game against Helix to tie 7-7.

Go for it. Erik Webb kicked for that extra point during a 10-7 victory for the mighty Hillers.

Hold them. The defensive line fires up to keep their opponents back from scoring a touchdown.

Reaching high, Ray Bassi fights for ball in game against Christian. Improved passing accounted for much of the increased scoring.

Head to head confrontation is the name of the game for linebacker Mike Frazier. Stingy defense led to the league title.

... Hillers reach the top

Intense play. Kevin Corcoran knocked the ball away as the referee called the pass incomplete.

Double teaming a Christian ball carrier, defensive backs Jerry Dorn (44) and Kevin Corcoran put on the crunch in a Hiller win.

Enthusiastic. Jerry Brewer sparks enthusiasm into his teammates.

GHS poloists stay afloat

Water Polo is an outstanding action filled game that tests your muscles, mind and endurance. Although there were few returning players, the water polo team was filled with new faces and new talent. Workouts began over summer and consisted of every day after school practice with occasional early morning sessions. The overall record of wins and losses was balanced and is evident that with hard work and determination the fighting Foothillers had a successful season. Coach Dave Kilmer said that he was very proud of the overall season.

Oops! Goalie Todd Yarbrough fortunately didn't do this very often.

Setting the shot. John Hazlett shows his strength while being covered.

Keeping after that ball. In a crowd Grossmont players fight to regain possession of the ball.

Strength, Grossmont's #3 hurls the ball forward towards the holeman.

Patience. Both teams wait anxiously for the ball, ready to make a shot on goal.

Hillers run for respect

Grossmont's boys cross country team worked hard all year to be the best they could be. Summer workouts began on August 25, the first day the team could start formal training. They would run up to 5 miles a day, the hot sun bearing down on them. The team also had to deal with a new coach. Mark Keller took on the coaching position. Although they had a disappointing year there were many good points to it. They had close meets with Granite Hills and El Cajon but lost both by a close margin. The team had no one star, but they always ran as a team. The team had a few returning people including Don Gibson who last year went to the C.I.F. finals. Also returning was David Klein, an excellent runner who was a spirit lifter for the team.

Finishing 0-8, and in last place was a disappointment for the team. With the coaching of Mark Keller, the team seems to be in good hands.

Lady Hillers run hard

Running for respectability, the young lady Hillers had a very impressive season. Under the guidance of rookie coach Mark Keller, the team had only two seniors, both of whom were in their first year on the team. Without the leadership of a "seasoned veteran" the team did what they knew best, RUN! Minus a home course they had to ride to Lindo Lake, Santee Lakes, and West Hills High School to run their meets. As the season tore on, senior Jennifer Smith took on the leadership role. Placing first in many of the races and sixth out of 150 in the annual Mt. SAC Invitational, Smith was the catalyst of the team. "Even though we were a young team, we ran consistently and we will be better in the years to come," stated Smith. With a 4-4 record and a fifth place finish in the league, the lady Hillers should become defiant contenders in a year or two, giving coach Keller something to look forward to!

... blocks its way
to CIF — again!

Hours of hard work and a lot of determination made our Varsity Volleyball team #1 in their league. Undeclared throughout the season, they made it to CIF. This was not unexpected since last year's team went to CIF also. The help and advice given by Coach Debbie Kane contributed greatly to the success of the team. "She really knows what she is talking about," stated Cptn. Colleen Wagner, "She's a good coach and a good friend." The team has a lot to be proud about this year and should be highly congratulated for their effort.

Power. Andrea Radmilovich spikes the ball to gain another awesome Hiller point. Sheer perfection. Making it look so easy, Kelly Hankins bumps the ball to the setter. Quick recovery. Even after a fall the team is still able to recover the ball quickly. Ace. Setter, Wendy Dennis, starts the game off by serving an ace to the opposing team. Umph! Suzy Shutz goes up for a spike while the rest of the team covers her closely. Facing page. Wendy Dennis gets the ball to Barbara Dotson who is ready for a spike.

... it pays off

Varsity girls' tennis had another triumphant season placing third only behind first ranked Monte Vista and second ranked Valhalla. You could hear the squeaking of their shoes and you could see the determination in their faces as the season continued. Under the special guidance of coaches Bob and Kathy Bryant and through hard work they ended the season with a record of twelve wins and four losses. Their three strongest players were singles player Debbie Britton and doubles team Misha Fountain and Heather Ryan. Next year's team looks like they will place ever higher since Heather Ryan and Misha Fountain are the only two players who are graduating.

Umph! Misha Fountain watches her serve which kept her and Heather as top doubles. Augh! First ranked Debbie Britton whizzes the ball by her opponent to win the match. Swoosh! Anna Discenza returns the ball with her backhand which has won her many matches. Time Out! Coach Bob and Kathy Bryant help Shawna improve both her forearm and game. Swoop! Marcia Herion lowers her racquet in order to hit the weak serve. Tap! Meghan Foster watches with a hopeful face to see if the ball will make it over.

Offensive potency helps JV Gridders pound league opponents on way to title

This year's Junior Varsity team showed incredible talent, drive, and determination throughout the entire season. Known for their great scoring abilities, it was not unusual for them to win a game by 25-30 points. This proved the team to be one of the best in its league. "They did it all themselves" claims Coach Jerry Ralph. "They knew what they wanted and went out and got it." All team members will look back and have many proud memories of the season. With this much to offer from the JV team, next year's Varsity season can only be better.

PAT. Sean Mulrooney kicks the ball for the extra point. Stick em. A close look down the Hiller offensive line. Charge. Tom Ranglas runs the ball through a mob of Sultans.

*JV Football Team. (Front row) M. Ochoa, D. Riley, T. Simmons, C. Olson, M. Wilson, T. Ranglas, E. Craig, J.R. LaBruno, (Row 2) J. Cucharelli, M. Makdesi, R. Price, N. LaRussa, S. Matrigo, S. Eagerly plunging into the crystal clear blue pool, one by one the psyched-up members of the JV H<sub>2</sub>O polo team got ready to play the exciting game of GHS water polo. With determination, aggressiveness and extensive training, the enthusiastic Hiller polo team placed sixth in the league. Although it was a younger group of boys, GHS JV water polo played with assertiveness and utter ability. Grossmont High's JV H<sub>2</sub>O polo truly splashed their way to complete victory!

Boys JV Cross Country sprints to victory

GHS feet pounded vigorously on both hard dusty roads and lush green grasses for miles and miles at a time. And throughout the long races, the team members never stopped to rest their exhausted bodies. Fighting off the blanket of sweat that covered their skin, the boys JV Hiller cross country completed all of the never-ending races with a BANG!

GHS JV Cross Country members: Matt Nagel, Sal Cuccarase, and Jose Bello.

JV girls' Volleyball spikes their way up

Smashing their way to the top, GHS's hardworking girls' JV Volleyball team placed a proud 2nd in the league. Practicing over the summer for about 4 hours a day, this young and enthusiastic team began then to strive for the very best. And through teamwork, keen ability, and exceptional coaching, Grossmont's girls JV bumped, set, and spiked their way up!

JV superstars: coach S. Stork, D. McManus, T. Mertz, R. Hodson, M. Meeuwisse, K. Hankins, L. Cappelletti, D. Hawks, A. Boers, C. Immonen, D. Dobransky, R. Pekras, C. Overton, S. Gruer, D. Danciu, K. Parent.

Super blocking power: As Dereka Danciu blocks, Karla Parent and Kristen Hankins await the return.

Smashing ability: Denise Dobransky perfects her awesome spike.

JV girls Tennis smashes their way to Victory

The echo of screeching sneakers on painted asphalt was heard, accompanied by the pounding of little green balls being smashed by taut strung rackets ... Grossmont's JV girls tennis team had made their statement. For this young and eager group of girls, a season of victories was expected. And through absolute teamwork, exceptional athletic ability, and utter enthusiasm, they did it!

Outstanding team members: coaches B. and K. Bryan (and son), K. Mattimore, H. Teeter, S. Evans, M. Gram, W. Hodgetts, M. Moran, D. Gray, K. Smith, A. Orozco, K. Walker, N. Ranglas, J. Abrahamson, W. Lin, K. Lincoln, A. Osborne, K. Vilhauer, N. Richardson, M. Novacek, H. Lepow, A. Luban, S. Dovel, T. Leitner

Serving to win: A dynamic duo of Tammy Leitner and Wendy Hodgetts work together in making the attack and then winning the match.

Powerful return: A petite but aggressive Tammy Leitner swiftly follows through with her smashing return to the serve.

... pays off

Varsity boys basketball provided their fans with many exciting games this year. Again this year the Hillers were much smaller than their adversaries, so in order to compete the team had to be able to perform the basic fundamentals. Strong defense and a patient offense are trademarks of a Frank Foggiano coached team. With those ingredients the team had a very exciting and successful season!

Hanging back! Jason Foggiano stays back to protect against the fast break, as a teammate shoots a free throw.

The game plan! Coach Foggiano discusses what play the team should run to take advantage of the other team's weakness.

1,2,3, GO! The team always gets in the huddle before the start of the game to give a cheer.

WIN OR LOSE? Noel Gillespie ices the game as he scores the winning points in the waning moments of a game.

Warming up! The team warms up before the game so they can get their shot down, so maybe they can sink a shot at the buzzer to win the game.

... SEASON

Exciting, entertaining, and enjoyable were a few of the words used to describe the varsity girls basketball team this year. Tony Camra was back for the second year to coach the girls, and he picked up a valuable assistant in the likes of Kathy Hamilton. The two put together a good team along with a solid game plan to lead the lady Hillers to a great season!

Break Away! LaFrancia West steals the ball and scores the easy two. She was the defensive leader of the team.

What a pass! Shannon Kline makes a great pass to teammate Leticia Torriente for an easy lay-up!

Tough defense! Coach Camara tells the girls to get out on the court and win the game!

Come on and try me! Linda Schmidt plays some tough defense against an opponent. The team won the game in overtime!

Swish! Shannon Embry takes a turn around jumper in the key. She was a strong force for the lady Hillers this year!

Varsity wrestling

your

 "cool" Kevin Martin

... had potential.

Despite great potential, Hiller wrestling was a disappointment in 1987 primarily due to poor senior leadership. Several key seniors quit or did not perform to their ability and a 2-6 record resulted. Bright spots did exist however as the team won the 16 team Ramona Tournament for the third straight year and wrestled aggressively at the CIF 2A championships. Head coach Jud Hulbert saw some strong showing from sophomores Kevin Martin (101) and Brett Davis (108), juniors Jeff Eskridge (128) and Jesse Brennan (147) and seniors Jim Eskridge, Mike Savary (135) and Jerry Dorn.

Facing page. Senior Zach McKeown awaits the blow of the whistle to start his match.

Get the ankle. Sophomore Brett Davis attempts to take his opponent down for two points.

Holding back. Junior Jesse Brennan keeps a tight hold to force his opponent down.

Make a move. Junior David Teeter gets ready to make a move on his opponent.

 Miller's J.V. boys score everytime!
 KIT 469-7737

Lack of size, lack of depth, and the strength of the Grossmont league proved costly to the J.V. boys basketball team as they suffered through a disappointing season. Under the guidance of Charlie Porter, the fourth year mentor, the team learned the basic fundamentals of the game. Although they didn't win many games, they learned to play an aggressive man-to-man defense and the complex offense. These are important for these athletes to advance to the varsity level!

A new strategy, Coach Porter seems to have a full-proof plan on opponents.

Boys J.V. basketball, front row: Tim Koepke, Keith Phillips, Todd Jones, Rick Peters, David Ang, back row: Don Medlin, John Luthi, Early, Steve, and...

Is this guy airborne? Another score for Grossmont's J.V. basketball team against El Cajon's team.

Up in the air, It seems to be a jump ball with the victors Grossmont taking the ball for another basket.

GHS girls beat the best!

G.H.S. girls beat the best. Grossmont's J.V. girls basketball team is a team with spirit. Coordination, expert skills, and enthusiasm show truly through all of G.H.S.'s blue and gold tradition. The key players of the season are Sandra Devenberg and Linda Sodano. The whole team worked hard all season with the help of Coach Ridgeway. Experience was gained and skills sharpened.

G.H.S.'s J.V. girls basketball team, Sandra Devenberg, Chessa Ewin, Kaylene Sachinni, Jenifer Sanders, Stacey Smith, Linda Sodano, Mailee Pava.

Passing the ball, for another scoring point to lead J.V. girls to be the winners of the game against their opponents from Monte Vista.

Jump Shot, Sandra Devenberg shots for another point to put Grossmont in the front against Monta Vista.

JV wrestlers show talent throughout the season

There was a lot of talent this year coming from first and second year wrestlers. Coaches Dave Brown and Mike Mendoza worked intensively with the wrestlers helping them perfect their skills during practice. Known for their wrestling ability, David Teeter, JR LaBruno and Bob Danforth participate on JV and Varsity. Other outstanding wrestlers were Jeff Mengoli, Paul Do, Steve Ritchie and Rich Williams. Grossmont held it's first JV tournament this year. No Varsity lettermen were allowed so all first year wrestlers had an equal chance to place in their weight class. Out of 13 schools competing in the tournament, Grossmont took second place in team points. With talent like this on JV, next year's Varsity season should be fantastic.

Holding him back. Freshman Shad Martin struggles to get his opponent down on the mat.

Matmaids show their pride for the GHS wrestlers

Over the years matmaids have never really been recognized for what they have done. This year it was hard not to notice them. Besides being there to cheer on the wrestlers they were on mat's edge ready to take down stats and write notes for the coaches. In order to do these tasks, the girls had to know all the basic moves of wrestling which include takedowns, nearfalls, reversals, etc., and know how many points were awarded for each move. This year GHS held its first JV tournament. Having the matmaids there was crucial to the outcome of the tournament. The matmaids also had a big part in the planning of the awards ceremony. All the coaches agree that the matmaids were essential to having a successful season.

Cheering them on. Tina Armijo, Sandy Mueller, and Dereka Danciu cheer on a wrestler.

Score. Melanie Savary patiently keeps score during a dual match in Grossmont's new gym.

Statgirl. Dereka Danciu takes stats for the wrestler while Mrs. Savary takes pictures.

Determination, hard work and intense practices were the driving forces behind the 1987 boy's varsity baseball team. Starting in early March, the team began a series of practices, working on batting and fielding skills. The strength behind the team this year was a firm defense and a strong lineup of returning players including Doug Davis, Lance Dickson, and Mike Clavell. Coach Gray commented at the beginning of the year that the strength of the players supported by the skills of returning players would assure an exciting season, as well as one that saw the championship playoffs at the end of the season.

Shunning the image of just powder puff baseball players, the 1987 girls' varsity softball team looked forward to an exciting season of hits, runs, and grand-slams. Tryouts took place in late February, and after the team was assembled, the girls attended regular practices to work extensively on developing their field and batting skills. A strong team was chosen this year with new varsity members as well as with the returning powers of pitcher Suzy Shutz, shortstop Sharon Sodano, and first baseman Monica Selvig. Coach Sutton set high goals for his team this year. With the strong defense and relentless offense, he believed that the girls had what it took to make it to CIF.

Before the start of the swim season, the swimmers were busy raising money for the purchase of weights and swim benches to aid in their training. The main purpose was to help develop certain muscles without being in the water and to help perfect their stroke technique. With this help and the addition of two other new assistant coaches along with Head coach Judd Hulbert, the boys' team was very successful in deepening their skills and competition level. All of their hard work and dedication were sure to pay-off.

Work! Work! Work! Coach Judd Hulbert organizes the swim events for the boys' meet against Valhalla.

Working for their goals. The long, hard practices help to develop the swimmers' endurance and stroke technique.

Stroke, stroke! Bobby Cox uses the newly purchased swim benches to help strengthen his upper body muscles.

With the fire of the gun, the swim season was off on another year — another quest for victory. The success of the team came from the dedication of attending five practices a week for two hours a day, and the unity along with spirit that tied the team together. A strong field of coaches helped to mold the team's talent and spirit into a winning combination. With the most competition coming from Valhalla and Granite Hills, it was definitely the year of the Aardvarks'.

Full of energy! Maria Meeuwisse and Todd Yarbrough don't appear too tired after another hard workout.

Jennifer Nowakowski, Michelle Miller, Kristy Glenzer, Wendy Linn, Carrie Knutsen, Bettina Volken, Carrie Songer, Jennifer Gensler, Christine Wessel, Rachel Hodson, Julie Pickrel, Melanie Savary, Theresa Williamson, Elissa Jaw.

A tip for free. Giving out pointers on how to improve stroke technique, Lisa Fisher becomes a new member of the Aardvark coaching staff.

Paddling her way through another workout, Wendy Thetford always strives to improve her times.

Lamar!!

*Well, we survived yet another year of G.H.S. & S.P.R.I.T.E.S. I'm so glad you were in English & you brought some "life" to a very "dead" class. And you've got to admit that going to Palm Springs w/ S.P.R.I.T.E.S. was pretty fun!! Well, hope you a super summer & I'm sure I'll see you! Bye, Lisa Giannangelis

Trina Jensen

With a new "diving only" coach, Krista Lake, the returning Varsity divers were able to work to improve their techniques, while new J.V. divers could learn their required dives and work to make the Varsity squad next year. Krista Lake devoted her entire time to helping each diver to develop his or her own particular style and compete at C.I.F. level. All of the divers supported one another and cheered them on to victory.

A pinpoint landing. Amy Rogers works hard to perfect her forward pike dive before the next meet.

Waiting patiently. Tina Huish seems a bit apprehensive to try the new dive.

The topic of discussion. Before the beginning of the meet, this group of divers discusses the dives they will attempt.

All work and no play. Coach Krista Lake demonstrates how to improve Don Steele's dive.

Hello Tamar!

Well another year has come to a close and only one more for me! Thank God! SENIOR, sounds pretty good! We have shared a lot during this school year. KITH, TJ and parties, thank you for being my friend! Don't be a total stranger your friend always!

MARK KIT 448-1675

Lets go out sometime!

P.S. I Really do like you Tamar!

Again Gymnastics rolled into a winning position

Preparing everyday for Gymnastic practice was very important. Coach Carol Laue made sure each individual gymnast aimed for preparing and perfecting her routine. During their performances each wished and hoped for a "10" ... the perfect score. Kim Yamazumi was an optional gymnast who made up her own routine. Each routine was judged from the performance on the bars, beam, floor and vault. The toughest competition was Santana and Valhalla. League finals were hosted by GHS.

Caught in the act: Kicking is shown by Kim Yamazumi.

Can you sense it? Audra Bailey displays concentration.

Toes Pointed; One of the important factors to success.

Flexible aren't we ... Dana Haskell performs with talent and grace.

Easy does it! A double stag is a very difficult stunt.

From l to r, top to bottom; Audra Bailey, Kim Yamazumi, Dana Haskell, Krista Larson, Kristi Holmes, Theresa Mertz, and Kellie Larson.

Golf, once a sport for the rich, elderly or famous, has new status for the yuppie generation and at Grossmont enjoyed popularity and success on the course. A fairly strong top five players with the help of coach Mary Swingle was very competitive. "She (Swingle) really encouraged us," stated senior Mike Huish. Blustery winds and wet weather cancelled some practices but according to Huish didn't halt team interest because "wind and turf conditions are just part of the game." Singing Hills was the squad's home course and low scores were not uncommon. CIF time saw the golfers active.

Definite satisfaction comes from making a long putt. Varsity player Mike Huish picks up his ball after sinking an 18 footer.

Intensity of concentration is obvious in face of senior David Miller as he prepares to putt for par at Singing Hills.

Plotting strategy, players Mike Huish, Jost Deerberg, David Thessen and Mike Holbrook move on to the green and examine position.

Right on line. David Thessen watches as his putt breaks down hill towards the hole. Thessen's play earned him a varsity spot.

Crossing that bridge when they get to it, Mike Huish and David Thessen head for the clubhouse after another round of 18 holes.

Swoosh! Zap! Pop! This is the common sound of a tennis ball hitting a racket. Members of the GHS team put together a successful season and undoubtedly conquered the victory, making progress. With the guidelines of tennis coach Bob Bryan the team built skill and confidence. Number one singles player Kurt Hoffman helped lead the team to a top spot. Doubles leaders were Eric Ogata and Brent Hayward.

J.V. baseball produces another exciting year

Coach, Tony Camara, returned for his second year at the helm of the Grossmont J.V., and led them to a very exciting year! Most of the players, having played together all through Little League, were already acquainted with each other, and making it easier to play together as a team. The team possessed a strong defense along with a potent offense, and with this they were able to win a lot of exciting games. The season was a steppingstone towards the varsity.

Get the top hand over! Coach Camara works with a player trying to show him how to get his top hand over and drive through the ball.

Drive through the ball! A player takes a few cuts in the batting cage during practice, as a few teammates watch him hit.

G. Valles, J. Eichorst, B. Levy, R. Gapski, J. Donlan, K. Smith, K. Strange, L. Martineua, J. Tatum, T. Liles, T. Camara (Coach). Bottom: D. Sledge, G. Layson, S. Bogajczyk, J. Chiuchiarelli, D. Angotti, D. Lennon.

J.V. softball has a good year

With few returning players the J.V. softball team was inexperienced and untested. Under the guidance of coach Robertt Peairs the team responded well and had a respectable year. The team spent many hours working on the fundamentals of the game during practice. This enabled the team to play strong defensively and remain close during the tight games. The team played well as a unit, and therefore were able to win many games.

Top: R. Peairs, T. Baird, S. Laseur, S. Smith, K. Jones, J. Quirk, J. Mosher, M. Merickle, R. Weber Bottom: T. Shauer, T. Ross, L. Chambers, W. Hodgetts, S. Dove, J. Walker, R. Butcher.

What a face! Coach Peairs graciously poses for a picture after practice. He led the girls to a successful year.

Stretch those legs! Stretching is a vital importance before practice, so that noone gets hurt and can't play during the season.

JV Swimmers ride strong wave of varsity success

Starting out the year on the right foot, Grossmont's JV swim team was off to a good start by beating Valhalla, in their first league meet. The team has done well in past years and was expected to do good again this year. Winning their first two meets gave them the incentive for a productive season.

Front Row: (L-R) R. Matthews, I. Cunningham, A. Lawrence, B. Davis
Back Row: J. Metsker, M. Babbitt, S. Koffler, S. Nelson, P. Venieris

Front Row: (L-R) C. Wessel, R. Hodson, J. Pickerel, M. Savory, T. Williamson, E. Jaw
Back Row: J. Nowakowski, M. Miller, K. Glenzer, W. Lin, C. Knudson, B. Volken, C. Songer, J. Gensler, W. Thetford

Diving with grace! Amy Rogers makes a splash in the diving competition.

Achelle Miller does the backstroke with ease as she strives for a victory.

Taking a breather! Dana Carlson comes up for air as she swims the breaststroke in the Valhalla meet.

Young tracksters perfect skills in tough league race

It's the last lap. Fatigue is setting in, muscles are aching, and they run towards the finish line, determined to win. What sport you might ask? It's track, a sport often overlooked by many, yet these athletes work just as hard as any others. This year's JV track team was working towards a great season. With long, hard practices and a good attitude, they expected to go far.

Front Row: (L-R) C. Arevalo, J. Bello, E. Decottignies, P. Su, K. Price, B. Woodworth, M. Orgel, G. Nelson Middle Row: E. Weichelt, M. Cuppedge, E. Amador, J. Sherr, D. Kleis, J. Darter, K. Ranta, C. McRee Back Row: D. Deorkin, D. Russell, M. Phillips, S. Aguilar, R. Starling Almost there! Jesse Brennan leads the pack towards the finish line.

On your mark, get set, go! Coach Bullock times his runners as they race around the track.

Coaches Cole, Ridgeway, and Bullock discuss plans and ideas for a winning season.

Pointing out both sides. Principal Brady speaks at an all-senior assembly about the possibilities of having graduation at either SDSU or GHS. By majority vote, this year's graduation will be the first to be held at Grossmont's own stadium.

Faculty

Grossmont's students are known for their success. Often unnoticed though are the molders, the faculty, who contributed many hours to help students needs. Coaching, serving food, typing report cards, writing recommendations, and helping to keep our campus clean, are a few tasks that help GHS function.

Teachers were always going to meetings and workshops to improve not only their own abilities but to help make GHS a higher quality school. Experimenting with new ways of teaching through projects, student activities, and abstract games, made learning and teaching interesting. Faculty members set a good example of both spirit and pride by decorating on blue and gold day, helping out with homecoming, and participating in pep assemblies. The GHS faculty has shown a great amount of dedication.

With a smile, Mr. Brown shows his pride by sitting in a jail booth on Homecoming. Many faculty members helped students raise money for various clubs by participating in the Homecoming festivities.

Kim Bartling watches a reaction occur after a student mixes two chemicals together.

Busy like usual, Bea Wammack, Principal's secretary, and Carol Sorensen, receptionist, communicate to various people. These two workers are only two of the many office staff who help GHS function smoothly.

Directing students to an assignment on the side board, Jim Hatcher begins an economic's class.

Administration strives for success in 1987

Grossmont is very lucky to gain a fine principal like Robert Brady. Together with administrative vice principals and counselors, he has accomplished a great deal. The 1987 school year with Brady has been a productive one. Brady encouraged seniors to be the first to have graduation here. He has also continued many committees. Counselor Joan Gangwisch and Marty Akin worked hard to publish a bi-weekly scholarship bulletin so seniors could take advantage of the money offered to them, while vice principals had a hard year because of a new tardy policy which made it necessary to enforce strict rules.

Special education soars beyond limits

Special education teachers dedicated time and energy to help physical, mental, and emotionally handicapped students within the Grossmont boundary. Rather than putting students in classes above their level, special education classes were geared to the ability of the students. Special services were also provided. This year, the faculty helped students write their senior memories. With Dr. Blazovic as director, the special education department motivated students to work hard, and accomplish goals. Though on a designated area of campus, the special education faculty and students shared some of the facilities with Grossmont, and functioned like an ordinary high school would.

More hungry students. Ilsa Hammerickhouse takes food orders, and tries to move the line as fast as possible so students can eat before the break period ends.

While students are hard at work, cafeteria workers are busy in the kitchen preparing food for hungry Foothillers. Some of the food is made from scratch, while some is delivered packaged items. A couple of workers come early in the morning and set up for the breakfast window. Later, more workers arrive to prepare cookies, sandwiches, and salads. Many of the workers come for a few hours to work the "busy" lunch shift. Though students only see cafeteria workers before school, during break, and at lunch, they are constantly busy behind the scenes preparing for the next meal.

Office staff backs instructional program

The classified staff, or perhaps more familiar, the office staff, helps students and teachers with various details. Because the office staff keeps track of school records, schedules, and report cards, this group can be considered the organization of GHS. Students often confront these workers when making appointments with counselors, or reporting to the attendance window because of a tardy or absence. The tasks performed by the classified staff are not always seen, but the results make GHS an efficient and organized high school. With the friendly smiles of the office staff, the true pride of Grossmont can be sensed by visitors throughout the year.

Becky Delmonico-Smith works hard in the duplicating room on another busy day. Copying machines seemed to run continuously, running off all the teachers' assignment sheets.

With the recognition GHS has received after the first grading period, Grossmont students and teachers need to appreciate the hard work and pride the "crew" has shown. The groundsmen kept the landscape trimmed, and cleaned up after lunch, while the custodians worked the evening hours straightening up the classrooms for the following day. The campus utility man was often seen transporting equipment and repairing items. Not only are the students and teachers deserving of recognition for Grossmont's clean campus, but more deservingly the campus "crew."

Ads

Who ever asks the questions "How is the annual payed for?" or "How does the staff cover cost of production and the printing of pictures?" Nobody. Most people assume they pay for their book and that's the end of things. For the Annual staff, it's just the start. Each member of the staff is required to sell a certain amount of advertising space.

There are two types of ads that can be sold. The first is to businesses. There are great benefits for businesses when they advertise in the yearbook. Not only the students see ads, but friends and family do also. The second type of ad is a personal ad. Personal ads usually have one or more pictures of the buyer/buyers and a paragraph of memories. Personal ads are something that students will always have to remember and cherish.

Everyone benefits from ads. The staff raises money to pay for the book businesses are exposed to many people and students have their memories.

Conroy's Florist is helpful when students need flowers for special events and dances.

Fun. Known for their costumes and service Bobby McGee's is a nice place to meet for special occasions.

Closing

It has been a long year full of hopes and changes. But all of us have finally made it through the good and bad times to the long and eagerly awaited summer vacation.

For many, the last day of high school is rapidly approaching. Seniors have traveled four long years down a road with no end yet in sight. They have seen many different sights and felt many different feelings and have completed a segment in their lives that may never be equalled. However, there will always be memories to look back on and times to remember that will always be special and must never be forgotten. We are unsure of what we will have to face in the future. Many struggles and accomplishments, pain and happiness, new faces and old friends along the way. Although we leave Grossmont, we take with us many great memories, knowledge and preparations for what lies ahead. Knowing that we have made it through high school in one piece, we know that there is no challenges ahead that will be too great to overcome.

Where's the beach? Todd Yarbrough screams with excitement at the thought that summer's ahead, bringing a life at the beach for three months straight.

Joining the crowd. With the sound of the final bell, ending another school day, students gather their books and head for home.

Anticipation mounts. Looking forward to the future, Renee Marinesi, Ruthann Earley, and Dotty Lange want to end the "senioritis".

Yarner,
 they babe? Glad I met cha this year?
 Had fun at the drive-in? Ha? Oh well just pretend? Hopefully we can take you out and show you a real good time instead of like the last time. Hopefully I see ya in the summer & next year? ♡ Renee Bernuth 410 8060
 Use it!

And that's all folks!

Those famous last words. A message of encouragement sends graduating students on their way to face new challenges in the future. The marquis on the front lawn keeps students informed of all the upcoming events throughout the school year.

TAMAR- Hey Babe, Wasup Sorry that you didn't call me I wish you would have but still your a really sweet person and will always be special to me. Hope to see you this summer
 Friends always - Jim McFarland Shalom!

Tamar,
 I wonder why your name
 isn't written in my handwriting? who is to say? I really think that you are going to be eaten alive by a woolly mammoth who comes in contact with young girls after 3:00! you know it will happen! I'm sorry you won't be joining us in English, but I'm sure you'll be happy while we're working our butts off! Thanks & your sense of humor!

Uh... Uh... Uh...
 Hello?

Tamar,

I have enjoyed very much being in English class with you.
 Your lighthearted mood really lent the class a better air.
 Enjoy your summer vacation and possibly I'll see you next year.

Levente Juhasz

Tamar,
 It was your sense of humor that got me through English. On days when I wasn't at my best emotionally, you would cheer me up. Have a wonderful summer and thank God you don't have summer reading. Love,
 Hammy

Tamar-

It was fun having English with you this semester. Can you believe we survived it all? Any way, good luck next year & have a good summer!
 Mario Tilano II

Have you heard of summer?
 I see you're not going to be going next year.
 O.K. we hope you're from Tamar

Hii Yamaa!

Well, we made it through another year! Yea! This year has been really fun for me. I love

Grossmont. Thanks for being my friend. I helped alot. You are such a wild & crazy person yet extremely intelligent that sometimes I just can't figure you out.
Love swimming & P.E.

Remember swimming & P.E.?
And Spanish was a blast.
ha ha! Hope I see you next year.
Love,
Lillian

Tarnar,

Finally the end! This has been the most gruelling year I have ever had. How about you. I predict a dark, dreary, cloudy, boring summer. Sounds good, huh? Have a good summer, Junior, and Senior year.

Brian May

Tomar.

It's been a blast in Mr.
Penny's class. Remember all the times when he yelled at you and everyone. Hopefully next year I will have more classes with you. Have a great Summer.

Tamar Well the year is over. I do know
 for this year have a good summer than luck a down next year. Bobby

Tanner -
It's been real fun having you in Spanish!!! You're a crack up!!!
You made 4th period the best class I've ever had!!!
You're a great friend - thanks for everything!!! I hope that you hear from the water
you fell all over on the cruise!!!
Have a great summer and a great next 2 years!!!
Tanner

I am so happy
 I met you, your really sweet and
 I'm glad your my friend! Have a good summer, see ya next
 year!
 Love ya!

Tamar,
It's been fun
having you in English
because, it would have been very BORING without you!! Hope to have more classes with you next year! Have a fun
summer and try not to party too
